C.N.R. Officials in Changes

H. H. Sparling Appointed Supt. of Alberta District

Howard H. Sparling, veteran Canadian railway worker since 1902, will return to new duties in Edmonton after an absence of two years, following announcement Friday that he will become general superintendent of the Alberta district for the Canadian National Railways. He has been general superintendent of the Saskatchewan district since 1942.

Prior to 1942 Mr. Sparling was superintendent of the Edmonton division and earlier still, superintendent of transportation in Edmonton and Winnipeg.

The change bringing Mr. Sparling back to Edmonton was announced by W. R. Devenish, vice-president of the Western Region, C.N.R.

J. A. Rogers, general superintendent of the Alberta district since 1942 has been appointed general superintendent of transportation for the central region with headquarters at Toronto.

Other changes announced at the same time include promotion of Marshall D. Thompson, superintendent of the Port Arthur division, to general superintendent of the Saskatchewan division.

Mr. Thompson was superintendent of transportation at Edmonton during the middle 20's and then went to Saskatoon.

Mr. Sparling started his career as a telegraph operator in Ontario. He worked with the Great Northern Western Telegraph Co. and the Grand Trunk Pacific in the early years of the present century. He was chief dispatcher in 1915 in Winnipeg.

Mr. Rogers came here in 1942.

Smash Nazi Line

White Russia Gains Scored By Red Army

LONDON, Feb. 25.—(CP)—Germany's Transocean News Agency broadcast today said German troops have evacuated the great White Russian stronghold of Vitebsk, to fall back toward the old Polish frontier 70 miles to the west.

The German high command's communique, broadcast later, did not mention Vitebsk but confirmed an earlier Berlin announcement—also made by Moscow—that Russian troops had taken Rogachev, a centre 150 miles south of Vitebsk.

Moscow army authorities said Hitler's Rogachev-Vitebsk line, one of the strongest on the Russian front, is smashed. Red Army men streamed across the ice of the Dnieper river which forms a large part of the line, dispatches said.

Moscow had not announced the capture of Vitebsk.

The German Transocean news agency, in a Berlin broadcast recorded here by the ministry of information, said Vitebsk, important junction of four trunk railways, under siege by Red Army troops

Argentine Leader Forced to Resign

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Feb. 25.—An ultra-nationalistic clique of army officers who had opposed breaking relations with the Axis took over the Argentine government in a bloodless coup d'etat today after forcing President Pedro Pablo Ramirez to resign at gun point.

Gen. Edelmiro Farrell, vice-president, was designated to succeed Ramirez by a revolutionary junta of six generals, of which Farrell was a member. Admiral Leon Scasso, a notorious pro-Nazi but apparently not a member of the junta, reportedly was named vice-president.

Gen. Luis Perlinger, interior minister in the Ramirez cabinet, led the revolt to prevent the president from making a radio address last night in which it was reported, he would have announced the formation of a new, Liberal government.

London Raided Again in Night

LONDON, Feb. 25.—German planes struck back with their fifth consecutive night of raids on London last night. Defying a thunderous anti-aircraft barrage and swarms of R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. night fighters, they scattered incendiaries and some explosives over a wide area, though first reports indicated the attack was not as heavy as on the previous two nights.

Ten German planes were shot down.

The Nazi effort paled into insignificance, however, in comparison to the mighty offensive being press against Germany by the R.A.F and American forces by day and night in an effort to cripple enemy production in advance of the opening of a western front.

Visit Raid Areas

LONDON, Feb. 25. — (BUP) — King George and Queen Elizabeth today visited areas of London which were severely damaged by bombs in recent air raids.

For This City:

House Group Gives Approval To Bond Issue

Application of the City of Edmonton to the Alberta Legislature for validation of a by-law authorizing the issue of $1,770,000 in bonds, to buy in certain outstanding debentures, was approved by the Legislature's municipal law committee at a Friday morning sitting.

The application, contained in a request for charter amendments, will come before the Legislative committee of the whole House for further consideration, probably Friday afternoon.

The city's proposed $1,770,000 bond issue is the first step of a plan to pay off the city's whole debt of some $22,000,000. A bid on it has already been accepted by the city council, at average cost to the city of 3.54 per cent.

When money from the bond issue is received, it will be placed with the city sinking fund board, and will be used to buy up old City of Edmonton bonds, which carry a higher rate of interest.

Other charter amendments approved by the committee give the city council the power to use whatever method of debenture repayment that may be most advantageous to the city at the time of borrowing, and the power to purchase or redeem outstanding debentures, and issue new ones at lower interest rates.

Approval was also given by the committee to a charter amendment which will give the city, with approval of the Board of Public Utility Commissioners, the power to pass by-laws assented to by burgesses, three months after such approval has been given.

Further amendments asked by the city asked for power to appoint City Comptroller A. A. Campbell to the sinking fund board as a temporary member, and to allow electors, whose names have been omitted from the voters' list in error, to be given a certificate entitling them to vote, and to transfer to the municipal district of Strathcona a half-mile section of 142 street, on the south side of the river. These amendments were also approved.

Thomas Garside, K.C., city solicitor, spoke on behalf of the city at the meeting. Mayor John W. Fry and City Commissioner John Hodgson were also in attendance.

A. E. Fee, Social Credit M.L.A. for Sedgewick, is chairman of the municipal law committee.

Edmonton Pilot Battles Nazis To Hit Target

By LOUIS HUNTER

LONDON, Feb. 25.—(CP)—The 14-months-old Canadian bomber group staged its greatest effort of the war last night, participating in the huge R.A.F.-R.C.A.F. raids on targets in Germany.

At least 13 squadrons of Lancaster and Halifax bombers took part.

A Thunderbird crew led by PO. R. H. Jarman of 11525 88 street, Edmonton, reported his aircraft was attacked three times by enemy fighters. Fire from a Junkers-88 knocked out the rear and midupper turrets without injuring the gunners. The Canadians went on to bomb the target.

"As if that wasn't enough, a Focke-Wulf 190 attacked us right over the target," said midupper Gunner Sgt. Wilbur Dovek of Eastend, Sask.

Destroyer Hardy Lost by Britain

LONDON, Feb. 25.—(CP)—Loss of the destroyer Hardy was announced last night. The admiralty gave no details. She was commanded by Capt. W. G. A. Robson. The Hardy was a new ship. She was named after the dsetroyer Hardy which was lost in Narvik Harbor, Norway, early in 1940.

An Editorial

Edmonton Pays 3½%

The City of Edmonton, now paying 5 per cent interest on a gross bonded debt of $26,000,000 has sold a twenty year serial bond issue of about $2,000,000 at 3½ per cent. Admittedly the rate of 3½ per cent is too high; but it is a reduction in the interest rate of 30 per cent.

The reduction in the excess interest now paid, if made at the lower rate of 3½ per cent, would amount to about $400,000.00 each year or a total in twenty years of more than $8,000,000.00. These figures represent an actual saving to the people of Edmonton.

This makes very clear the manner in which many of our pioneer citizens have been robbed of their homes and business properties through high and unreasonable interest rates charged the City of Edmonton.

It shows graphically what can be saved.

Labor Congress

Ask Committee Study Lay-Offs In War Plants

OTTAWA, Feb. 25. — (CP) — The Trades and Labor Congress of Canada today asked the government to appoint immediately a national committee to study the problems of lay-offs in war industries.

The congress, in its annual brief prepared for presentation to Prime Minister Mackenzie King and members of the cabinet, expressed opposition to the government's proposal to introduce family allowances on the ground they would form a substitute for adequate wages.

OTHER PROPOSALS

Other recommendations by the congress included:

1. Early enactment of a national health insurance plan under the control of contributors;

2. A more generous and uniform policy on beer and liquor control in all provinces;

3. Increased old-age pensions;

4. Improved shipping regulations for the safety of sailors;

5. Free transportation to members of the armed forces and increased clothing allowance on discharge;

6. Payment of overtime rates to postal employees.

Supplementing the brief with interjections, P. R. Bengough, congress president who presented it,

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—By a resounding 72 to 14 vote, the U.S. Senate today enacted the $2,315,200,000 tax bill into law in climax of the congressional revolt against what leaders termed President Roosevelt's attempt to dictate policy.

Thirty-nine Democrats—including such usual administration stalwarts as Senators Scott Lucas of Illinois and Charles O. Andrews of Florida joined with 32 Republicans and one Progressive to pass the bill over Roosevelt's veto. The total of 72 was 14 more than was necessary to achieve the two-third necessary to override.

Only 13 Democrats voted to sustain the veto. They were joined by one Republican — Sen. William Langer of North Dakota.

FORESEEN YESTERDAY

The verdict had been foreshadowed yesterday when the house voted 229 to 95 to override and Senate Democrats unanimously brought Sen. Alben W. Barkley back into office as their leader

Purchasers of Beer in February Won't Be Allowed March Quota

Holders of Alberta liquor permits who bought beer in the month of February will not be allowed to buy any for the month of March, J. A. King, chairman of the Alberta Liquor Control Board, announced in Edmonton Friday. The restriction has been made necessary by the rush to buy beer in February, he said.

"Some 35,000 permitees found themselves unable to buy beer in February, because stocks were exhausted," said Mr. King. "In addition, other persons took out permits in February, and they too were unable to buy beer.

"To accommodate these permitees who were not able to buy beer in February, those who did buy it will not be allowed to buy any for the month of March."

Mr. King also announced that as of March 1, no more permits will be sold during the morning period in liquor vendors' stores. They will be issued in regular store hours, between 2 p.m. and 7 p.m.

LONDON, Feb. 25. — (CP) — Thousands of dollars worth of pictures and other art treasures in a 30-foot deep London wine cellar are beneath the debris of a building almost blotted out by a German bomb, it was disclosed last night. The ruins are still smoking 24 hours after Wednesday's air raid and it may be two days before it can be learned if the treasures are intact.

Wounded Canadians Being Disembarked

HALIFAX, Feb. 25.—(CP)—Five hundred Canadian airmen and soldiers, wounded in Sicily and Italy and other battle fronts in the Mediterranean war theatre, were being disembarked from the Canadian hospital ship Lady Nelson early today and being placed aboard waiting hospital trains to take them to their homes across Canada.

The white-painted hospital ship, with her lights all aglow, arrived in Halifax early last night, but the wounded remained abroad her until this morning.

Included among the repatriates were a few wounded and injured airmen and soldiers from Britain, victims of accidents in England or bombing raids over Hitler's Europe.

Airmen aboard the ship included FO. E. G. Booth of Edmonton, who had been stationed at Malta with a Beaufighter squadron about seven months, doing escort duty, defensive fighting, patrol work, shipping shoot-ups and "every joe job."

Says C.C.F. Seeks To End Monopolies By Super-Monopoly

QUEBEC, Feb. 25.—(CP)—Quebec Treasurer J. A. Mathewson, in tabling the provincial budget, told the legislative assembly yesterday "the C.C.F. wants to put an end to all monopolies by creating a super-monopoly."

Speaking of what he said was the C.C.F. program, Mr. Mathewson added that the centralization in Ottawa of all the chartered banks would result in "all the provincial treasurers having to go to Ottawa, hat in hand, and there ask permission to administer their respective departments."

"What would be the result for all Canadian provinces of such a policy?" he asked members. "Within a very short time provinces would become but vain words and their names would be but historical remembrances."

Milder Weather

The temperature was slightly lower Thursday with a maximum of 19 degrees and an overnight low of nine degrees above zero. Total of .01 of an inch of light snow fell during the night. The official reading at 8:30 a.m. Friday was still nine degrees, and moderating temperatures are predicted with the weather forecast of "partly cloudy."

Day Assaults Follow Raids During Night

LONDON, Feb. 25.—Strong formations of United States bombers struck aircraft works at Regensburg, ball-bearing shops at Stuttgart and other targets in southwest Germany today in the sixth straight day of attacks on Nazi aviation sources.

American bombers based in Britain carried forward the greatest air offensive in history after well over 1,000 R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. night raiders smashed at Schweinfurt and Steyr while they still blazed with fires kindled by daylight raids yesterday.

The Berlin radio hinted that American bombers from Italy attacked Nazi targets again today in what would be the second straight day of concerted assault.

HAVE ALLIED ESCORT

A communique announcing the daylight attack from Britain said the powerful fleet of heavy bombers was escorted by British, Dominion and American fighters in the deep penetration of Germany.

Probably making the longest American flight yet over Germany, the big bombers dealt a body blow at Nazi fighter production in attacking two plants at Regensburg, the city which air experts regard as Adolf Hitler's No. 1 aircraft centre.

Weather favored the raiders, and the Americans employed their visual bombing technique

Social Credit Meet in Toronto

By B. T. RICHARDSON
Edmonton Bulletin Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA, Feb. 25—Plans for a national convention of the Social Credit party in Toronto early in April have disclosed the hopes of party supporters to contest many seats throughout Canada. A national leader to succeed the late Premier William Aberhart will be chosen. Among the prospects for leadership are: Premier Ernest Manning, of Alberta; John Blackmore, house leader of the New Democracy party; Rev. E. G. Hansell, Blackmore's chief lieutenant in parliament and Hon. Solon E. Low, Alberta treasurer.

The New Democracy party, a label used by federal Social Credit candidates in 1940, has virtually disappeared. Mr. Blackmore and his supporters now describe themselves as Social Crediters again. An extensive radio campaign by the Democratic Monetary Reform Association, which Mr. Aberhart headed, is regarded by political observers as the beginnings of the Social Credit drive for national power.

Germany Shaken But Still Powerful

By RALPH E. HEINZEN
Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin
Copyright, 1944, by British United Press

Here is the latest news from inside Germany. The dispatch was filed by Ralph E. Heinzen, former British United Press correspondent in France, who is enroute to Lisbon aboard a diplomatic train after spending 15 months in internment in Baden Baden, Germany. He was imprisoned by the Germans when they overran Vichy France.—EDITOR.

VILAR FORMOSO, Spanish-American Frontier, Feb. 25.—Germany is badly shaken and battered by Allied air raids and defeatism is spreading through the Reich, but the country still has not reached the depth of civilian discouragement, military collapse, and shortage of food that I saw in 1918. Following are my outstanding impressions of the enemy's situation as the war approaches a climax:

1. The German army has been greatly weakened by heavy casualties in Russia, Italy and North Africa, but still remains a formidable force of at least 330 divisions.

2. Because of the manpower crisis, Adolf Hitler has been compelled to skelstonize his divisions and conscription and recruiting have become increasingly difficult. The Germans have cut the strength of a division from three to two regiments and have raised the mobilization age from 55 to 60.

3. The German ability to resist Allied air attacks is waning. Half the government buildings and 40 per cent of the residential districts in Berlin have been damaged by bombs.

4. There is much talk in Germany about secret weapons but, aside from aerial rockets and air mines—which so far have not proved the answer to Allied air power—I have heard or seen no evidence of any startling developments.

5. A slight improvement in Germany's air defences during the last two months is attributed

U.S. Destroyers Sink 3 Vessels, Blast Kavieng

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Southwest Pacific, Feb. 24—(AP)—United States destroyers, drawing tighter the knot around Japanese bases already neutralized by air attacks, sank two enemy merchant vessels and a destroyer in brief actions off New Ireland Tuesday, Allied Headquarters announced today.

The sea patrol, besides finishing off the three ships, heavily bombarded Kavieng, the enemy base at the northern tip of New Ireland, at twilight and then shelled installations on the Duke of York Island to the south, all in 18 hours.

NO AIR OPPOSITION

At no time during the 18-hour sweep were any Japanese planes sighted, giving strong support to the communique statement that "We are tightening the blockade of the enemy's Bismarck bases and now dominate the sea lanes to the north, due to the effective neutralization of the enemy's air bases in the Admiralty, New Ireland and New Britain groups."

A headquarters spokesman said, however, these former centres of Japanese strength should not be written off entirely but are to be considered only temporarily impotent.

The destroyer formation spotted a 3,500-ton troop laden cargo vessel off the northern tip of New Ireland early Tuesday morning and sank it in a few minutes.

Seventy-three survivors of the approximately 400 Japanese troops aboard the ship were picked up. Two of them later died and another killed himself.

since last November, was evacuated only after bitter fighting. An earlier Berlin broadcast acknowledged the "evacuation" of Rogachev.

BITTER FIGHTING

"Fighting became particular bitter at the two focal points of Rogachev and Vitebsk," the broadcast said. "It was quite evident that the Soviet command was aiming at break-throughs here and was sparing no sacrifices in order to achieve them.

"Nevertheless German troops succeeded in coping with these strong attacks by elastic adaptation. In the course of these tactics, the two towns were evacuated.

"In the Vitebsk area Soviet troops succeeded in penetrating German lines southeast of the town, but this penetration was sealed."

Premier Stalin, in one of two orders of the day issued yesterday in Moscow, announced Gen. Konstantin Rokossovsky's army, in a new offensive north of the Pripet marshes, had stormed and captured Rogachev and had advanced 15 miles on a 30-mile-wide front, taking more than 30 towns and villages.

The fall of Rogachev and Vitebsk—the former a rail town 15 miles north of Zhlobin, junction point on the Vitebsk-Gomel and Gomel-Minsk railways—was viewed here as an indication the Russians intend to mount a new offensive aimed at the White Russian capital of Minsk, less than 100 miles west of the nearest Russian lines on this rapidly-changing front.

Premier Drew Denies Regime Minority Govt.

TORONTO, Feb. 25.—(CP)—Premier George Drew told the Ontario legislature yesterday that his Progressive Conservative administration "is not a minority government" and declared flatly his government was prepared to meet a want of confidence motion from the opposition.

The premier rose late in the afternoon to take part in the throne speech debate and was replying to what he described as "threats" by E. B. Jolliffe, C.C.F. leader, who had spoken for nearly two hours in the debate, making his maiden speech in the house.

JOLLIFFE'S STAND

Mr. Jolliffe had said that as far as his party was concerned, defeat of a government measure would not constitute want of confidence in the government, unless the C.C.F. so defined it before the division. He urged the government to "pay some attention to the views of the opposition."

Premier Drew said the house had heard "stern warnings" all afternoon from the opposition leader about what would happen if the 34 C.C.F. members in the house were not pleased with government legislation.

"This is not a minority government," he said. "We do not intend to govern in any spirit of fear."

Then he turned to the opposition benches and said: "When you no longer have confidence in this government, then you have the privilege of a democratic test and we will face that test."

gun regiment, having won both the Military Medal and Military Cross twice.

In 1939, as lieutenant-colonel, he assumed command of the Canadian Armored Fighting Vehicles school at Camp Borden. Then as brigadier, he took over the First Canadian Armor Brigade for training in England. In 1941 he was appointed to command an army tank brigade, and in February, 1942, took command of a Canadian armored division overseas with rank of major-general.

General Kitching, former commanding officer of The Loyal Edmonton Regiment, is a former member of the British army and on the outbreak of war he joined the Royal Canadian regiment and went overseas with the first contingent of the first division. He was awarded the Distinguished Service Order for his services in Sicily and appointed brigadier of a Canadian infantry brigade in Italy in November, 1943.

Brig. Ziegler was born in Calgary and worked his way through the University of Alberta. He joined the 61st Field Battery, Royal Canadian Artillery in 1926, and worked his way up through the ranks to the rank of captain in 1937. He was mobilized with a field regiment of artillery in 1939, and proceeded overseas in January, 1940.

Last year he assumed command of a Canadian field regiment and in October was appointed colonel, general staff at Canadian military headquarters.

BRIG. LANE BORN HERE

Brig. Lane was born in Edmonton, and educated at Royal Military College. In 1931, he qualified as a pilot of the Royal Canadian Air Force. He switched to the Royal Canadian Artillery in 1932.

Appointed to the Canadian active service force in 1939, he gained promotion to the rank of lieutenant-colonel and to the command of a Canadian field regiment in 1942. His home is in Halifax.

The new brigadier was born in Edmonton and is the son of Capt. H. N. (Tod) Lane, recently retired from the staff of M.D. 13 at Calgary. The parents live at 10144 123 street.

Brig. Lane attended Oliver public and the Westward Ho school in Edmonton before entering the Royal Military College at Kingston in 1927.

Four years later he was graduaed as a first lieutenant, specializing in artillery.

With a keen foresight not shown by many at the time he decided the airplane was going to play a big role in the next war, so he enrolled as a student pilot at Camp Borden R.C.A.F. school and won his wings as a qualified pilot.

Doubly qualified as a pilot and artillery officer, he remained in the permanent Canadian army force.

He was in England when the present war broke out and with the rank of captain was studying anti-aircraft gunnery.

Possessing this knowledge, he was returned to Canada and placed in charge of anti-aircraft defences in Halifax.

After organizing the defences of Halifax against possible enemy attack, he was promoted to brigade-major and went back to Britain in command of a battery of anti-aircraft guns.

In a short time he was promoted to lieutenant-colonel, after taking a course in England. He then returned to his old unit, taking command of the 1st Field Battery, R.C.F.A.

Brig. Lane is a grandson of the late Sheriff Scott Robertson, first sheriff of the Edmonton judicial district.

A sister, the former Miss Betty Lane, Mrs. R. F. Butler, wife of Capt. Butler of the Canadian Active Army, lives in Edmonton.

Brig. Ziegler at 33 is one of the youngest brigadiers in the service. At 31 he was the youngest artillery officer holding the rank of lieutenant colonel overseas.

He has always been a "youngest", having joined the 61st Battery, R.C.A., as a "boy", being too young to serve as a gunner. He was under 18.

He went to England as a brigade captain, served with a Canadian heavy battery and was artillery brigade major, of a division.

He went to Camberley and then became G.S.O. first grade, with the artillery branch of a Canadian formation.

His wife lives with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Dean of 10917 81 avenue. His mother also lives in Edmonton.

Reich Shaken But Powerful Says Newsman

not to new weapons but to new night fighting tactics perfected by Col. Hajo Herrmann, of the German air force. It is based on constant radio direction of the two-man night fighters by ground stations which follow the raiders' flight on an electric board.

By Berlin's own admission on Jan. 12, Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering tapped the last great pool of air reserves and threw new fighter squadrons into an effort to halt the day and night bomber raids. That left Germany only the slightest margin of strength to face the forthcoming invasion and the increase in the weight of Allied air blows.

The Germans live in dual fear of the Anglo-American air raids and Russian invasion. The raids already have destroyed or seriously damaged 90 German towns from the Rhine to the Danube.

Propaganda Minister Joseph Goebbels' newspaper, Voelkischer Beobachter, admitted the other day that "Germans who have lost everything in terror raids already exceed several million and are becoming as great a problem as the pre-war 7,000,000 unemployed."

Thus for the first time, the German people at home have heard the noise and felt the suffering of battle and they don't like it.

Goering promised the Germans a curtain of planes and flak to keep out the enemy planes, but during 13 months internment in the Black Forest, I heard Allied planes overhead 127 times. There frequently were air raids four times in one week.

LOSE WAR ENTHUSIASM

Germans who spend their nights in air raid shelters and their days worrying about the possibility of a Russian invasion have lost much of the enthusiasm with which they supported Adolf Hitler's war.

That is particularly true in Berlin. Each major raid on Berlin has smashed the capital's transport so badly that it has sometimes been cut from western Germany for a week.

Eighty cities within the area from Hamburg to Munich have been hit so badly that some of them are 90 per cent ruins. These include Hamburg, Cologne, Stuttgart, Frankfurt, Mannheim, Karlsruhe and Kassel.

Street after street of these cities is lined with burned-out shells of houses, fatcories blown to bits and public utilities destroyed. Their populations meanwhile have been shunted elsewhere as refugees. Berlin already has turned back millions because of its own grave housing, food and hospitalization problems.

Berlin continuously moves its children and aged to hospitals and asylums. Trains are filled to capacity by these pathetic refugees. No one can leave Berlin without a police permit.

The government removed the foreign embassies and legations from Berlin and has scattered government departments to safer places in the provinces.

Say Poles Reject Proposed Border

By JUDSON O'QUINN

LONDON, Feb. 25.—(AP)—The Polish government in London was reported today to have sent to Foreign Secretary Eden a refusal to accept the Curzon line as a future Polish-Russian frontier and to have expressed displeasure at Prime Minister Churchill's support of the Soviet demands.

The semi-official Polish newspaper Dziennik Polski, which said yesterday the Curzon line was not acceptable, intimated the Soviet-Polish dispute had reached an impasse and that marked differences had arisen between the British and Polish governments over the boundary issue.

Marshal Stalin's rejection of the latest compromise offer of the Polish government in London was regarded as an almost foregone conclusion. The Russian reply to a proposal for the boundaries, reported to have been transmitted by Mr. Churchill, is expected to restate Soviet insistence for acceptance now of the Curzon line and some reshuffling of the Polish cabinet.

Great Aerial Blows Resumed On Continent

with results described officially as "good."

While the heavy bombers were striking into Germany, other Allied forces gave the French invasion coast one of the heaviest all-day poundings of a long campaign.

BIG COASTAL RAIDS

Coastal observers reported "very large scale" attacks on France which went on throughout the day with scarcely a letup. Late in the day a big force consisting mainly of American planes returned from different sectors of the French coast.

A Nazi broadcast said violent air battles developed after the U.S. bombers swept over the Reich with a powerful Allied fighter escort for the sixth day of unbroken attacks on German aircraft centres.

An official DNB news agency report of the raid was indefinite, but suggested that today's American operations again were on a two-way basis—from Britain and Italy—as was the case yesterday and Tuesday.

Observers in southeast England reported earlier that big forces of bombers escorted by many fighter squadrons flew outbound over the coast by daylight.

ATTACK COAST

Medium and light British, Dominion and American bombers meanwhile struck in force at the continental coast in France, Holland and Belgium, and U.S. Marauders attacked German shipping.

Striving for a knockout blow, the bulk of more than 1,000 bombers, including "many squadrons" of Canadians, taking off from British bases last night, made two raids on Schweinfurt in Central Germany, while Wellingtons operating from Italian bases simultaneously hit Steyr, 90 miles west of Vienna, Austria.

Other bombers in what may have been the greatest force ever sent out by the R.A.F. Bomber Command attacked unspecified objectives in northwest Germany and completed a "very extensive" mine-laying program.

Only 35 bombers were lost in the night raids. Canadian intruder planes, one of which was lost, destroyed three German planes over Europe.

BIGGEST R.C.A.F. GROUP

The Canadian formations in the attack on Schweinfurt represented the heaviest contribution the R.C.A.F. bomber group has made to the aerial offensive since it was formed 14 months ago, Canadian headquarters revealed.

Soon after the night raiders returned to their bases, British, Dominion and American planes swept out across the Channel for new daylight attacks in the round-the-clock offensive designed to cripple Nazi production and anti-invasion defences in advance of the opening of a western front.

Typhoon fighter-bombers of the R.A.F.'s second tactical air force pounded objectives along the French invasion coast. Coastal watchers reported a large force of American bombers also headed for the continent.

HUGE NAZI LOSSES

U.S. army headquarters in London disclosed that the American Air Forces alone were shooting down an average of 100 German planes a day in air battles over the Reich that may decide the course of the war. British and Italian-based American bombers and fighters yesterday destroyed 156 enemy aircraft over Germany for a five-day bag of 499.

The British night assaults on Schweinfurt and Steyr increased the number of Allied planes attacking Germany during the 24-hour period to well over 3,000 and brought the all-out air offensive to its highest pitch of intensity.

Fires started yesterday by American bombers led the four-engined British-based night raiders to their targets at Schweinfurt, site of ball-bearing and aircraft components factories. New fires were kindled and by the end of the second attack, a "large conflagration" was seen with smoke rising to a great height, the air ministry announced.

They, too were guided by fires set by Flying Fortresses in daylight yesterday. Steyr now has been raided three times in 36 hours, with R.A.F. Wellingtons joining in the most intensive attack ever attempted by the Mediterranean air forces against a target in Germany or Austria.

A U.S. army communique issued in London disclosed that bombers of the 8th Air Force shot down 83 intercepting German planes in air battles accompanying yesterday's raids on Schweinfurt and Gotha. Escorting American fighters accounted for 37.

Italian-based American Fortresses destroyed 24 enemy aircraft in the Steyr raid and escorting fighters accounted for 11. Sixteen Fortresses and three fighters were lost in the southern theatre and 49 bombers and 10 fighters in the western theatre for an over-all American loss yesterday of 78 planes against at least 156 German planes destroyed.

Nazi Attacks In Beachhead Are Broken Up

By RICHARD G. MASSOCK

NAPLES, Feb. 25.—(AP)—German forces ringing the Anzio beachhead, now swollen to 10 divisions, pecked at British and American lines yesterday in two fruitless attacks southwest of Carrocetro as the 5th Army steadily improved its positions, it was announced today.

The enemy likewise in light force assaulted French positions on Mount Abate 1½ miles east of Terelle on the Cassino front, but artillery fire broke up the thrust, and on the lower Garigliano sector German probing attempts were blocked.

Despite a seven-inch snowfall in the mountains around Cassino, Allied troops improved their positions on Mount Castellone in the mountains west of the village of Cairo, midway between Cassino and Terelle.

NEW NAZI DIVISION

The new German division added to the nine which have been containing the Anzio beachhead for some days was said to have been brought from northern Italy. It was identified as the 362nd infantry.

The two beachhead attacks were launched by only a company of infantry in each case—usually about 200 men. They were repulsed with heavy losses to the enemy, it was announced.

Allied artillery got the range of a German tank concentration near the so-called factory in the Carroceto area and forced it to disperse.

Although the Germans maintained close contact against the Allied beachhead, the passing of another day, the fifth, without major developments gave the 5th Army valuable time to strengthen its defences against an expected third full-scale German offensive.

Patrols sent out by the British 8th Army found German positions still firm. Allied mortar fire tore into a considerable German movement in the Arielli area inland from the Adriatic coast.

Ask Committee Study Lay-Offs In War Plants

said the congress position on family allowances was that provision of that if they did not agree to such a responsibility.

TOO STRINGENT

In connection with the request for an easing of liquor restrictions, he said the congress membership felt the limitation on beer was "too stringent" and beer production could be increased without harming war effort.

Prime Minister King said the brief was a fine illustration of how labor and the representatives of labor governed the country.

In opposing work stoppages during the war, the congress deserved the gratitude of the country and placed an obligation on the government to co-operate.

In giving labor increased representation on government-appointed groups it had become necessary to tell "certain persons in high places" an adequate standard of living was representation they would have to get out.

SPEAKS ON ALLOWANCES

Mr King spoke at some length about family allowances, assuring the congress there was no intention that they should be a substitute for decent wages. The present method of determining a worker's income had no relation to his family responsibilities.

"Large families are an asset to the state but they may be a liability to parents," he said.

"The underlying purpose must be considered from the point of view of the great objective of the government—the establishment of a national minimum of social security and well being," he said.

While workers earning sufficient to be liable to income tax received exemption for their children, there was no such assistance to those in lower-wage groups.

Mr. King said he realized there would be opposition to the proposal by men who would say they had been able to succeed in the face of adversity.

TO HELP MAJORITY

"For one man who comes through that struggle how about the hundreds of thousands of others who have been unable to get anywhere?" he asked. "The purpose of family allowances is to get rid of that handicap for the great majority."

Dealing with beer and liquor restrictions, the Prime Minister said the government had been faced with the necessity of taking some action to avoid introducing prohibition. Approximately the same amount of beer was available as in 1942 but higher incomes had increased the demand. Distribution of the available supplies was a provincial matter.

"We are all hopeful that the day will come before very long when we won't have to have the restrictions we have today," he said.

MRS. CORA T. CASSELMAN, M.P.

Asks Fairer Treatment of Dependents

OTTAWA, Feb. 25—(CP)—Mrs. Cora T. Casselman, Liberal member of parliament for Edmonton East, said last night she wished to plead with the "99.9 per cent male representation" in the Commons for fairer treatment to dependents of soldiers who have been in prison, who have been absent without leave or who have "deserted" their families.

Speaking during debate on defence department estimates, Mrs. Casselman said:

"It has always been the case that when a man has been sent to prison or has been A.W.L. or has deserted his family, it has been his wife and children who have suffered.

"When the war is over we shall have to consider giving a little fairer treatment right across Canada to the women and children involved in these cases.

"I want to see the fairest and most generous possible treatment of the soldiers' dependents."

after he had resigned because of his open break with the president over the veto.

There was less than a half-hour's discussion before the vote was taken. The only speakers were Sen. Claude Pepper, Democrat, Florida, who said the vote was "upon the future of the Democratic party and the future of its leader" rather than on the tax bill. But Lucas declared the vote was "on the tax bill and the tax bill alone," and, that being the case, he was voting to override.

When Vice-President Henry A. Wallace announced formally that the senate had overridden the veto, no one on the floor or in the galleries gave any outward sign of awareness that the senate had just taken a resounding slap at Roosevelt.

Men Allowed One Uniform On Discharge

OTTAWA, Feb. 25.—(CP)—Defence Minister Ralston announced tonight in the Commons that men discharged from the army, navy or air force will be allowed to keep one uniform.

During discussion of army pay and allowances, Col. Ralston said the amount of the clothing allowance on discharge would be considered in connection with other rehabilitation measures.

The present amount of $65 had been fixed having regard to the amount of service clothing retained by service personnel. They kept one pair of boots, underwear, shirts, socks and personal kit including shaving equipment.

PROTECTS BOOTS

"You can't go very far in army boots," said Howard Green (P.C., Vancouver South).

"Let me tell my friend that a lot of men will gladly wear army boots after their discharge and a lot of civilians would like to get them," said Col. Ralston.

George Cruickshank (L., Fraser Valley) then said men should be allowed to keep their uniforms on discharge.

"The decision has been reached," said Col. Ralston. "A man will be allowed to keep one uniform."

Later Ralph Maybank (L., Winnipeg South Centre), said the clothing allowance granted to enlisted men should also be granted to officers, especially those in the lower commissioned ranks.

Col. Ralston replied officers and men were in entirely different categories in respect to matters of clothing.

Dominion Act Is Urged To Protect Civil Rights Of Persons in Services

OTTAWA, Feb. 25.—(CP)—Howard Green (P.C., Vancouver South) said last night in the Commons the government should explain why Canada has no act, similar to the Sparkman Act in the United States, to protect the civil rights of persons in the services.

A Dominion measure would give standard protection and was necessary, in addition to protection granted servicemen under provincial statutes, Mr. Green said.

Men and women in the forces should be convinced in their minds that adequate treatment would be given them in respect to rehabilitation. They should be able to leave the forces feeling they had reason to be proud of Canada.

VISION SHATTERED

Small allowances on discharge "shattered their vision of a new Canada," said Mr. Green.

Across the nation there appeared to be "a great deal" of indifference about those who would leave the forces. This was a tragedy. There should be a determination to see ex-servicemen were happily settled back into civilian life, no matter what the cost.

Present allowances and pension laws were not "fair" for those who had seen service.

Defence Minister Ralston said the Sparkman Act was not a major measure of relief for ex-servicemen.

"I share the full appreciation of the seriousness and importance of looking after the men and women of the fighting forces," said Col. Ralston.

Every effort was being made to win the war and also for the peace and security of those who make victory possible. The first thing was to ensure there was "a post-war," and that meant the war had to be won.

TOO MUCH TALK

Col. Ralston said he sometimes was concerned that there was too much talk of post-war matters.

The speech from the throne at the opening of the present session had made clear the first need was victory; but it recognized the need of planning for demobilization and re-establishment, he said.

The concern was not so much the amount of the rehabilitation grant but whether it would be possible to find useful employment for the returned men and women in Canada.

The throne speech had forecast federal action to give security against the major social and economic hazards. There would be war service gratuities for those who served and measures to supplement the rehabilitation program.

INSURANCE PROTECTION

The Sparkman Act protected insurance policies of men in the United States. In Canada, the lapses of policies had been less for men of the armed forces than for the civilian population.

Mr. Green: "There should be no lapses for those in the forces."

Col. Ralston said there had been little request for that particular form of legislation. Because of the time since the war started it would be difficult to apply any such measure equitably in Canada now.

The pay and allowances item of $547,256,061 was approved, as well as an item of $92,957,866 for travel and transportation.

On an item of $80,000,000 for construction, Col. Ralston said $29,000,000 was for new construction and the remainder for maintenance. The new construction included $15,000,000 for completion of work started in the present fiscal year, $5,000,000 for C.W.A.C. accommodation if required, $1,200,000 for ordnance buildings of which there was a great need at Toronto, and $2,000,000 for construction overseas.

EXPLAINS DECREASE

On the item of $159,566,238 for personnel supplies and services—including food, medical and dental stores, clothing and personnel equipment—the minister said there were decreases in the estimates from last year because the initial army equipment had been supplied and the requirements now were largely for replacements.

The estimate for clothing, $40,000,000, was down $11,000,000 from last year, he said.

Jottings From Session

OTTAWA, Feb. 25.—(CP)—At Dec. 31 last, 2,226 persons were receiving unemployment insurance benefits, Labor Minister Mitchell said yesterday in a reply tabled in the Commons for T. C. Douglas (C.C.F.—Weyburn).

Mr. Mitchell said the number receiving benefits, by provinces, was: Prince Edward Island eight, Nova Scotia 245, New Brunswick 30, Quebec 664, Ontario 479, Manitoba 250, Saskatchewan 114, Alberta 171, and British Columbia 265.

Amount paid in unemployment insurance benefits during the year ended last Dec. 31 was $929,219. The number of persons registered for employment at employment and selective service offices at Jan. 27 was 69,868, Mr. Mitchell said.

Total cost to the Canadian government of the Quebec conference last August, including the visit of President Roosevelt to Ottawa, was $366,596, G. H. Castleden (C.C.F.—Yorkton) was informed in a tabled reply.

The Wartime Metals Corporation is operating 12 properties which have produced under the corporation's control 80,943,472 pounds of recoverable metals, worth about $10,000,000, Munitions Howe said in a reply for W. K. Esling (P.C.—Kootenay West).

Up to Feb. 17, 1,080 R.C.A.F. personnel and 164 Canadians in the R.A.F. had been decorated for gallantry, it was reported in a reply tabled by Air Minister Power.

Labor Minister Mitchell reported in a tabled reply that the number of persons unemployed in Canada at Jan. 28 last year was 95,799, compared with 69,868 at the same date this year.

Cost of the new hospital planned by the pensions department for construction at Sunnybrook Farm, Toronto, is estimated at $5,000,000, the department said in a reply. A health and occupational centre to be built in conjunction with the hospital is estimated to cost $1,000,000.

Charges for violations of Prices Board regulations numbered 3,792 last year and there were 3,369 convictions, it was reported in a tabled reply for A. H. Bence (P.C., Saskatoon City). Fines collected amounted to $185,534 and lawyer fees and other disbursements were $100,972.

The pensions department reported in reply for Geo. Cruickshank (L., Fraser Valley) that it has hospital facilities with a normal capacity of 7,521 beds and emergency arrangements for an additional 2,136 beds. In addition, accommodation of 4,768 beds is under construction or planned.

Alternative service is being performed by 7,722 conscientious objectors, the labor department said in a reply tabled for H. W. Winkler (L., Lisgar). Approximately 80 per cent. of the men are farmers' sons and more than 7,000 are working in their own province, the reply said.

When trading on Winnipeg grain exchange was suspended last Sept. 28, the federal government took over 141,523,050 bushels of wheat from unsold stocks of the crop years 1940-41, 1941-42 and 1942-3 Trade Minister MacKinnon said in a tabled reply for P. E. Wright (C.C.F., Melfort). Number of bushels taken over, by years: 1940 crop, 57,464,763; 1941, 20,152,146; 1942, crop, 63,906,141.

Certificates of naturalization issued to former nationals of enemy countries have totalled 2,973 since the beginning of the war, State Secretary McLarty said in a reply to F. D. Shaw (N.D., Red Deer).

Munitions Minister Howe, replying to a question by J. A. Marshall (N.D., Camrose), said the emergency coal production board last year spent $4,000 for construction of all-weather roads to coal mines in British Columbia and Alberta.

Expenditures by the coal controller for posters totalled $5,623 up to Jan. 31, 1944, it was reported in a reply tabled for Tom Reid (L., New Westminster).

Average cost of training aviation pupils who have graduated from elementary flying training schools is $911, it was reported in a reply tabled for George Cruikshank (L., Fraser Valley).

The bacon board showed a deficit of $807,536 under the third United Kingdom bacon agreement, 1941-42, the agriculture department said in a reply tabled for P. E. Wright (C.C.F., Melford). This compared with a deficit of $509,671 under the 1940-41 agreement and a surplus of $1,317,912 under the first agreement.

Administrative expenses chargeable to the wheat board are to be deducted from proceeds of grain before payment is made on producers' certificates, the trade department said in a reply for P.E. Wright (C.C.F., Melfort). Expenses for the year 1942-43 were $568,230.

$35 Allowance For Dependent Mothers Urged

OTTAWA, Feb. 25.—(CP)—Stanley Knowles (C.C.F., Winnipeg North Centre), said yesterday in the commons that mothers of men in the forces should receive a dependent's allowance of $35 a month, on the same basis as a wife receives this amount.

The present maximum for a mother is $25 a month and she must prove dependency.

T. C. Douglas (C.C.F., Weyburn), supported Mr. Knowles' suggestion. When a boy who had supported his mother enlisted, the government should underwrite his responsibility and see she was provided for, he said.

Defence Minister Ralston said the country took the place of the son up to $25 a month. The son could allocate an additional $23 a month from his pay. The mother might earn another $40 a month before any reduction in the government allowance was made—or a total of $88 a month.

Alfred Bence (P.C., Saskatoon City), said he knew one case where an elderly man received the old-age pension but his wife, as the mother of a soldier, could not receive dependent's allowance because of the pension income received in the home.

Mr. Bence said he understood that if a complaint were made about the conduct of a soldier's wife, an investigator was sent to the community. On the basis of this report, he said, the wife might lose her allowance and be deprived of her legal rights in respect to support by her husband.

LONG DISCUSSION

The lot of servicemen's dependents was under discussion all afternoon, with the House in committee of the whole on the war appropriations bill. Many members suggested changes in dependents' allowances regulations and raised questions on particular cases which Defence Minister Ralston promised to investigate.

Col. Ralston stressed that dependents' allowances were not based strictly on the principle of need. They were based on the welfare of the service, which required that a man be freed from anxiety by the provision of a certain sum for his dependents. If the sum did not meet the need in any individual case, the dependents' board of trustees could step in.

Clarence Gillis (C.C.F.—Cape Breton South) contended a wife should not be held responsible for the offences of her husband by losing her allowance when the husband undergoes punishment.

ALSO "GOOD" SOLDIERS

"We've got the good soldier to remember as well," said Col. Ralston. The good soldier remained on duty, took his training and did his work. It was not much inducement to him to continue doing so if he found the man who disobeyed orders, neglected his duties and went A.W.L. had his wife and children taken care of in exactly the same way.

The minister said, however, that all aspects of the allowances regulations are continually under review and that all suggestions for improvement would be considered.

To Mr. Bence, the minister said the Dependents' Allowance Board had power to provide an allowance, in individual cases, for the legal wife of a soldier who has deserted her and taken a common law wife. The wife, however, was not any worse off by reason of the fact that her husband was a soldier.

FEW DUPLICATIONS

He said the number of cases of duplication of allowances—one wife getting allowances for two husbands—was less than 1-10th of one per cent. of the total allowances payable.

Mr. Gillis said there should be more latitude in the regulations so a mother could have more help in maintaining a home in which, for instance, a soldier's father was entirely incapacitated.

Victor Quelch (N.D., Acadia) said men who had served overseas and were discharged at their own request should have rehabilitation grants, in the same way as others discharged.

Col. Ralston said rehabilitation matters were under review and Mr. Quelch's suggestion would be given study.

Radios for Schools

There is a certain merit in the CBC proposal that a percentage of radios now manufactured in Canada should be placed on a priority rating for installation in public schools.

Radio is a great educational factor and there is no reason why it should not be employed more fully in primary as well as secondary instruction.

But if the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation is going out after this school installation as a policy, there is a corollary consideration that should accompany it.

The essential complement to school radios is the proper kind of broadcasts to put over them. There is not much use supplying every school with a receiving set unless some pretty comprehensive program of educational broadcasts has been devised. It is just possible that such a program should come first.

The educational value of Mairzy Doats and Frank Sinatra might be questioned.

Day Nurseries

The finance committee of the city council has received an estimate of the cost of establishing and maintaining day nurseries in Edmonton and a decision on the city's participation in the plan is expected to be made next Monday night.

The finance committee is told that the cost of establishing one day nursery unit is between $4,000 and $5,000. The proposal is to split this cost 50 per cent to the Dominion Government, 25 per cent to the Provincial Government and 25 per cent to the city. The city's share of maintaining one unit would be $660 annually.

It is shown that at least 674 mothers, having 1,014 children, require this service. At least three units would be required to deal with this number.

This figure, however, is by no means complete. There are many working mothers who were not reached in the canvass. Moreover, new military activities in Europe or in the Pacific may call for a greater production of war materials and a consequent increased employment of women.

The need for day nurseries seems to be abundantly proved. And since the service has wide social implications, the cost, unless it should be exceedingly excessive, which it is not, is hardly a factor.

It is to be hoped that the next council meeting will endorse the project.

50-50 Is a Safe Ratio

Good taste sets limits beyond which Canadians cannot properly interest themselves in the dispute between President Roosevelt and the members of the House and Senate. But we are of course entitled to note the facts, and to consider what bearing the quarrel may have upon the financial policy of the Dominion.

The President recommended that something more than ten billions of the year's appropriations for war and other purposes be collected through concurrent taxation. Congress responded by a bill calling for only $2,315,000,000 of tax-money. The President vetoed the bill. That put the fat in the fire, and the language of the veto message added fuel to the flames.

Whatever happens at Washington, it is to be hoped there will be no similar move at Ottawa to lighten taxation at the cost of heavier borrowing—for that is what substantially reduced wartime taxes would have to mean. Canadians yield to no people in a healthy disinclination to hand over their earnings to the tax collectors. But they have been pretty well agreed that we should pay half the cost of the war while it is going on.

Any tax ratio much less than that would be piling up trouble for the future in order to ease the strain at present. However well things may go, we will have none too much taxpaying power in the post-war years. We had better hold to the 50-50 ratio, and conserve credit strength for the reconstruction period.

We Have What It Takes

Dr. G. M. Weir, acting director of training in the pensions department, has been making a factual survey of the post-war industrial scene. He reported that when the transition from war to peace conditions has been completed there will be 1,000,000 or 1,500,000 peacetime jobs available which are now vacant. He bases the conclusion on the opinions of 50,000 people in all walks of life in Canada, and on the replies of 347,000 service men and women to a questionnaire.

Full employment, the investigator says, is feasible; we shall need 50,000 more professional men and women, chiefly doctors and dentists; construction, manufacturing and agriculture will offer the most opportunities for returned men. In making up the report, it is explained, it was assumed that population and industry will grow as rapidly as they did in the past—not that there will be any phenomenal expansion of either.

This will be sad reading for those who will have it that Canada is going to plunge from war into depression unless we adopt the Hitler plan and put everybody and everything under direction and domination by politicians and a brain-trust of theorists. Those who hold that the state exists for the individual, and not the individual for the state, will find in the report confirmation of their belief that free enterprise not only can but will meet the problems of the future to the full; needing only such safeguards as will make enterprise really free and a moderate measure of government assistance in minimising risks and opening up new opportunities for investment and employment.

The broad fact behind the report is that Canada has been lagging in the matter of development, in a good many respects. Construction, from house building to highway building is one. The protection of health is another. The conservation and recreation of forests is another. The list can be prolonged indefinitely. In catching up these arrears of wasted opportunities there will be employment for men and money on a scale hitherto unknown, with improved standards of living, working, health and security for the nation at large.

No people in the world have cause to face the future with more complete freedom from the defeatist attitude than have Canadians. We have all that it takes to make a permanently prosperous nation, and need only enterprise, courage and industry to make the ideal come true.

The Argentine Government has put Rumania, Hungary, Bulgaria and France on its black-list. Apparently it is willing to go on shipping supplies to Spain, which is playing Hitler's game as really and perhaps as effectively as any of the others.

Mayor Cornett of Vancouver wants daylight saving abandoned next October for the winter season. Edmonton people would be more interested in having the clocks set back an hour in summer, since we get more daylight at that time of year than anybody wants to "save".

United States naval forces intercepted and sank three blockade runners en route from Japanese-held islands to Germany, with cargoes of rubber and other needed war materials. Much of the rubber was recovered, and will be useful. It seems rather a mistake to have let the news get out. The Japs should be encouraged to keep on sending rubber-ships to Germany. Now that they know the destination reached by these craft they may send out no more.

Advice for Husband Hunters

Women Can Be Pursuer During Leap Year So Get Busy

By MARY ALICE QUAYNE

This is Leap Year and, according to many authorities, the time for women to propose expires on February 29th.

There is no denying that the quest for a husband is every woman's main job in life. A few old maids will alibi.

I have been loking up some literature on the subject of husband hunting and happy marriages.

One expert says to analyze some of the men prospects around you. He advises that the athletic coach, if there is one around that is still a bachelor, should not be overlooked because he domesticates so easily.

Similarly, a college professor ought to be a good catch, he thinks. A bit timid and calling for careful approach, but a good husband when he is caught and handled right. The professional engineer is also given a high rating, as a rule. So is the better type of mechanically minded man, like an electrician, the radio expert, the plumber, etc.

Woman Adviser

Another expert adviser—a woman unmistakably—hasn't much use for the travelling salesman in general. "A common species found all over the country, and very apt to migrate south even after captivity" is the way she dismisses him. Her advice would almost make you think she had been caught on that one! And why does she limit his peregrinations to migrating south only?

Curiously, she gives the newspaper reporter quite a high rating. It is open to discussion because a majority of reporters' wives—or even reporters themselves—might disagree. Anyhow, this is what the expert has to say:

"If you have a choice between two birds and one is a newspaper reporter and the other an imposing young lawyer, you had better bag the newsman. He may be flying around all night covering meetings but the lawyer might put up such arguments, you'd often wish you could shoo him out again."

Another expert—also at her own rating—doesn't get much glamor out of the big business man. Too many friends, too many clubs, country and otherwise, too apt to yield to temptation both in and outside his office, she says. Also on her "be careful" list is the automobile salesman, who is likely to be slick mentally as well as physically. (Good thing this Leap Year isn't concerned with the latter type.)

And songbirds! My, she has a down on them. "They'll warble until you swoon, and chirp all kinds of melodies." But she warns, "they are not so good when weighed as a good husband and put in a cage." Rather facetiously she adds, "You would be better off if you waited for a truck driver." And not a word about a truck driver waiting for you.

Long Engagements

Five years is not too long to get a bead on a fellow, thinks one more marriage mentor. And, heavens above, he shouldn't be backward at all in letting you wear his engagement ring three years. Five, and even three years may seem "forever" but, says this sage, you do want it to stick—or do you?

The lady who likes the bird similes so much says this one about how to handle your feathered friend after you get him:

"If you have the idea you are going to remake your man and pluck his feathers after marriage, you are wrong. Men change very little. It's wives who make the major adjustment in marriage. Chances are he will pluck your feathers."

All this advice is good and certainly had its place in yesteryear. But what are today's maidens going to do with so many Canadian boys overseas marrying English, Scotch and Welsh girls?

He Finds Ottawa Three-Sided

By ALAN MORLEY
In Vancouver News-Herald

The fact is that Ottawa is not one city, but three. These three cities all happen to occupy the same geographical position, but aside from their mere coincidence on the map, there is no connection between them. They live in watertight compartments and don't mix.

Simplest

First and simplest is Ottawa, the Ontario town. It is a very ordinary town, rather dirty and untidy and unimpressive. Its street cars and telephones are worn out, its houses old-fashioned, its restaurants few and not good.

Its young people laugh and play and go out skiing on the low Ontario hills. Its old people sit at home in anti-macassared rocking chairs and carefully read the obituary notices that come out on the front page of the local pages every day. Ottawa the Town is rather a nice, dull, unimportant place that still wonders vaguely and uncomfortably just why Queen Victoria had to upset the normal order of existence by making Bytown the capital of Canada. It is not sure that such an uncomfortable distinction is, really, quite respectable.

Parliament Hill

Then there is Parliament Hill. Parliament Hill includes the Houses of Parliament and the Chateau Laurier. There live and have their being the politicians of Canada—all except one wealthy old Senator who lives in a cheap boarding house uptown.

Parliament Hill knows nothing of the rest of Ottawa. It lives in "The House" and walks 100 yards down the street to sleep in the Chateau. But it knows all about every other city, town and village and crossroads in Canada outside of Ottawa.

It is the centre of an amazingly sensitive web of nerves that stretches over every inch of the country. A casual word spoken on Granville street is heard here before the speaker can finish his afternoon stroll between Birks Building and the Post Office. A miner's voice on Cape Breton Island will wake echoes that reverberate around the base of Victory Tower. A conference around a Shallow Lage, Ontario, grocery store cracker barrel can keep the lights burning halt the night through below the big clock on the Hill.

Zombies

The third City of Ottawa is much more important, much larger, and much more alarming than the other two. It is the City of Zombies—that huge and dreadful, mindless, soulless, bloodless organization known as the Civil Service. It is the city that really rules Canada. It is the impersonal, impalpable machine that translates all the subtle, emotional, evanescent moods of Parliament Hill into cold, inflexible rules and regulations in black ink on white paper and ties them around the neck of every Canadian citizen with bonds of red tape.

Where Ottawa the Town knows all about itself, and Parliament Hill knows all about everything but Ottawa, the City of Zombies knows nothing about anything and doesn't want to know. It never makes a suggestion, or takes a responsibility, or displays an initiative.

The passion of its citizens is for anonymity, their sole satisfaction is to obey orders. Their conception of the finest art is one column of figures that balances with another column of figures, their idea of the devil is a human being that won't fit neatly into a table of statistics, their dream of heaven a place where everybody has retired on a government pension after 40 years during which no one has failed to kowtow to a superior or look down his nose at his hierarchal inferiors.

Once you get these three cities separated in your mind, you are beginning to know Ottawa.

It is my definite opinion this can be the last war if we devise some preventive medicine to eliminate war's causes. We are willing to spend $500,000,000 a day to kill one another, so let's spend a little more and prevent the next one.—Foreign Minister Jan Masaryk of Czech government-in-exile.

Women In This War

Mr. Speaker, yesterday the hon. member for St. Paul's (Mr. Ross) referred to a press report of a statement or an address which had been delivered in Toronto by Major Gen. Chisholm, director general of medical services. I regret to say that the report would seem to indicate that there was some reflection upon Canadian women in connection with the war. I took the matter up immediately with the director general of medical services and I have his statement which I should like to read to the House. It is as follows:

I regret that the remarks which I made to the Rotary Club in Toronto in a professional address last week—and representing only my own personal views—were misinterpreted as a reflection on the women of Canada.

My theme was the emotional adjustment involved in the transition from civilian to military life and vice versa. I endeavored to trace these emotional relationships from tribal stages to modern times. It is unforfunate that certain remarks, removed from their context, conveyed impressions which would not have been conveyed had the full text of my address been quoted.

For example, the statement that "in times of stress, such as war, women became a liability" had no reference to the present situation or to the present war, but referred definitely to the women of developing tribes who were unable to fight along with their men when the tribe was threatened. This obviously has no reference to modern times wherein—in warfare as in peace—women generally are an enormous asset to society.

Insofar as references to the present day are concerned, my address was an interpretation of professional findings to an intelligent lay audience. In our professional research we make careful studies and statistical records of cases investigated representing a cross section of the population. Among these are found certain abnormalities, some of which I referred to and described.

It is regretted that the specific cases referred to were given general application to all women in the published report of my address.

I was deeply concerned about this matter when it came to my attention, and I hope that this statement by Gen. Chisholm will be accepted with the genuine regret which I know he feels that any words of his should be construed as a reflection upon our women folk.

It almost seems to be emphasizing the obvious to try to stress the volue of the contribution which the women of Canada make in war, as well as in peace. But in my department we are so conscious of the devotion and the Spartan courage which the women of this country are showing in this time of stress and anxiety that this incident impels me to add a word of my own. Nobody could administer the affairs of the army without knowing that our war activities would have small chance of success if it were not for the fortitude and consecration with which the mothers and wives and sisters and sweethearts of this country encourage their men in the forces and in other tasks of war. Here is an extract from a letter written by a mother who acknowledges with thanks the Memorial Cross, which, as she says:

—I received on the anniversary of my son's death. The just pride one feels in being a Silver Cross mother does in some small measure ease the feeling of irreparable loss. David, who won the D.F.M. in November, 1942, and his commission, was one of three brothers in the air force and one with the navy. One boy has been in Africa since May, 1942. A daughter is with No. 15 Hospital in Africa and lately moved on. One boy is in Iceland with a coastal patrol, and one at Victoria. We are parents of today who are looking to a future Canada that will justify the sacrifices being made.

The members of this House know, I am sure, that the spirit of that letter is multiplied in hundreds of thousands of cases across Canada, and I know that they will join me in this simple tribute of grateful appreciation to these noble women of ours whose inspiration challenges every man of us.

Write Troops Bright Letters

Newsy and Cheerful Is The Way They Like Mail

From THE OTTAWA JOURNAL

Letters from home to our men in the armed forces are of great importance. The men list them first in all suggestions as to what they want—letters come before gifts or clothing or even food.

Any letter from home is a treasure to its recipient. Just to see it means a great deal to him—the envelope with his name on it, the familiar handwriting, the warm reminder of home in the very feel of the paper. But it is what is in the letter that stays by; the thoughts that come out of the words on the paper, the new courage that rises in a man when he thinks of those whom he is protecting, the strong and brave resolves he takes when he is reminded again how dear are the things he is fighting for.

In our immediate problem of writing letters to our men away from home, we all agree that Airgraph mail is the most useful form for these letters—quickest, surest and making for the most direct overseas contact. So the problem of the amount of space is settled for us as writers. But we still have to ask ourselves:

1. What do I really want to say?

2. How do I want the reader to feel when he has read what I write?

And the second question is really first in importance; because the effect of those words from home is what matters. A letter that can give a lonesome fighting lad new heart and spirit, make him feel that he is loved and appreciated and that his home and his country are indeed worth fighting for—that's the kind of letter we all want to write. A man will carry a letter like that in his pocket, and read and reread it until it is worn to shreds. Any author would call so successful a piece of writing a masterpiece.

We have decided that the effect of our letter is to be encouraging, cheerful and appreciative; but now we come up against another of the technical problems of the author's trade, and this is tricky business. The writer can never say directly to his reader, "I am now going to encourage you; I'm going to do a Pollyanna job in this letter." A very few words in this strain and the letter would never be read. The good effect has to be attained indirectly, by the kind of material used, by the point-of-view of the writer.

Suggestions

The men and women in our Armed Forces have made many suggestions as to what they want to hear about. They like the small details of what's going on in the world they left. They want to know who's running for mayor, who won the baseball series, who had recently enlisted, who is the new principal of the high school, how much potatoes are selling for and what happened to Uncle Bert when he finally went on that long-planned fishing trip. All these details added together re-build for them the world they know and love, the world they are fighting for.

This sort of news is more or less impersonal. These lonely soldiers need plenty of personal news, too. They need to be told how they are missed, and how grand it will be when they're home again. Here again that old debbil point-of-view is standing around to make trouble.

Here's one wife to her husband: "Dear Bob: I'm sorry I haven't written oftener, but I'm just run off my feet with work. As if I didn't already have enough to do, what with the children and every bit of the housework, the furnace has taken to acting up. I have to run downstairs fifty times a day to watch it. I'm just afraid it's defective and will fill the house with coal gas some day. I can't get anybody to fix it. I certainly wish you were home."

Maybe that's a little exaggerated, but from what the censors say, plenty of letters in that tone go out of the country, and their envelopes might as well contain arsenic, from the amount of damage they do to a good man's morale. Supposing Mary had put on her best mood before she wrote; here's what she might have said:

"Dear Bob: The children are all around me as I write, anxious to send messages to their beloved Daddy. That black mark is little Pete's thumb print—he was down helping me with the furnace and I didn't notice how dirty he'd got. He's growing up to be a real man and trying hard to take your place. You'll be terribly proud of him when you get back.

"Joan wants you to know that she's working hard on your new knitted slippers. Between you and me, I think she's tackled something too big for her, but no job's too hard when she's doing it for her Daddy. You'll probably have to take what she gets done and use the slippers for ear muffs!"

Putting on the best mood to get a good point of view doesn't mean keeping hard truths from our men. They aren't babies, and when it is really necessary to tell them bad news, they can take it. It isn't the big unusual facts of bad news that are sapping to morale; it's the lack of small reassuring bits of good news. . . . The garden's growing. . . . The baby's hair is getting curly. . . . Your boss says he is holding your job for you. . . . Everybody is talking about what a swell soldier you are. . . . I love you.

Other Rules

There are a few other rules, too, that you will be wise to tuck in the back of your mind. When you write your husband, son, daughter or friend who is in the Services try not to make glaring mistakes about ranks, duties and privileges. A private is very much annoyed when his mother writes and asks him if he goes out evenings with his Major, or when his girl friend writes and says: "When are they going to make you a Captain?"

When you write your man or woman in the Services remember: He believes in the job he's doing and so do you. He wants to believe that you feel it a responsibility to know something about his job so that you can discuss it with him in your letters. You'll find he'll be extra proud of you if you appear to know the difference between a Lance-Corporal and an Orderly Sergeant.

Make the letters short, so that they can go Airgraph in double quick time. Write regularly, so that your man away from home knows you think of him steadily. Tell him all the news of his friends, his home town, his old job, his country.

Give a man a devoted family, a group of loyal friends who write to him cheerfully, regularly and often; who send him constant reminders of the good world he left behind him and assure him constantly that they appreciate what he is doing and are standing behind him every minute, and you've given him two right hands, a thousand extra rounds of ammunition and a suit of bullet-proof chain-mail.

Who've you got in the Armed Forces? . . . . Brother - Sister - Husband - Father - Nephew - Fiance - Cousin - Friend?

How often do you write?

Fine for Not Voting

C. H. Ireson in a letter to the Peterborough Examiner

The Australian Federal Parliament consists of two Houses, a Senate of 36 members and a House of Representatives of 75 members. The constitution provides that the total number of members of the House of Representatives (our House of Commons) must be as nearly as possible double that of the Senate. Members of both Houses receive $3,200 a year. Six members of the Senate are elected from each of the six states (Queensland, New South Wales, Victoria, South Australia, West Australia and Tasmania). Senators are elected for a term of six years, but one-half of them resign at the end of every third year. Senate elections are held at the same time as elections for the House of Representatives. In the House of Representatives the states are represented on a population basis and the House is elected for a term of three years. It is to be noted that members of the Senate are elected by popular vote and not "appointed."

Compulsory voting for Commonwealth elections was introduced prior to the election of 1925 and an exceedingly heavy vote (over 91 per cent) was cast in that year. This high percentage has been exceeded in subsequent elections, for example, 96.13 per cent in 1937, and 94.82 in 1940. In 1901 (the first Federal election) the percentage of voters who exercised their franchise under the voluntary voting system was only 55.69 per cent.

The Commonwealth Electoral Act states that "it shall be the duty of every elector to record his vote at each election." At the close of each election it is the duty of the divisional returning officer to prepare a list of the electors who have not voted and to certify the list by statutory declaration. This list constitutes 'prima facie' evidence of the fact tha the electors whose names appear thereon did not vote. The elector is called upon to give, within 21 days, a valid truthful and sufficient reason why he failed to vote. The Electoral Act provides that every voter who failed to vote at an election without a valid reason for failure or on receipt of a notice as previously mentioned fails to complete and return the notice in the prescribed period, or who states a false reason for not having voted shall be liable to a fine of not less than 10 shillings or more than two pounds.

District News in Brief

Rimbey Dog Proves His Worth When Crisis Arises at Farm Home

RIMBEY.—He is only a dog—just a common ordinary black and brown dog without pedigree and according to his master, Peter Gagmon, without much brain. Rover, they call him, and so invariably did the wrong thing around the farm—running to the head instead of the heels of the cattle — upsetting the calves' milk, that his master said time and again that he would have to give him away.

But last week Rover redeemed himself and now is the hero of the whole community out at Springdale, as a result of saving Mrs. Gagmon from injury, and possibly death. Mr. Gagmon was away helping a neighbor, and Mrs. Gagmon, who is deaf, was alone in the frame house where they lived. Rover was out around the barn yard where he usually put in his time. Flames began to appear around the chimney at the top of the house. The fire grew worse and Rover dashed to the house where he scratched at the front door, and at the back door, and yelped and barked so frantically that, finally, Mrs. Gagnon became aware of his presence. She opened the door to shoo him away and there, flying through the air, were pieces of burning timber, scorched shingles and clouds of smoke.

Rushing outside she could see that the whole top story of the house was on fire. She was helpless to do anything herself so she ran more than a half mile to the nearest neighbor. When they returned the house and practically all its contents had been destroyed.

RECEIVES AID

Clothes and household effects were promptly shared with the unfortunate couple and a few days later a dance was held in Liberty Hall with proceeds, amounting to $171 turned over to Mr. and Mrs. Gagmon.

The destruction of the house marked the passing of a famous land mark in the Springdale district. It was built more than 35 years ago by a family named Stelfox, an English family. The house was so much larger than and on such a grand scale, in comparison to the average homesteader's shack, that the people around called it "the castle".

The Gagmons know that they have true friends and Rover at last has come into his own for he is held in high community esteem to which the "snootiest" aristocrat of dogdom would hesitate to aspire.

House Expresses Its Sympathy For Legislator

By a standing vote Thursday, the Alberta Legislature unanimously endorsed a resolution expressing sympathy to F. Laut, Independent M.L.A. for Banff-Cochrane constituency, whose son, FO. Ross K. Laut, R.C.A.F., was recently killed overseas.

The expression of sympathy was moved by Premier Ernest Manning, and seconded by James Walker, House leader of the Independent opposition.

Said Mr. Manning: "The members of this Assembly have learned with profound regret of the death of Flying Officer Ross K. Laut, R.C.A.F., the son of the honorable member for the Banff-Cochrane constituency.

SECOND SON LOST

"The tragedy is emphasized by the fact that this is the second son to make the supreme sacrifice in four months. Such things as that bring home to us all the unspeakable tragedies of war.

"Nothing e can say or do can lessen the loss sustained. We can only pray that the God of Comfort will sustain those upon whom this double weight of sorrow has fallen.

"May they find a measure of strength and comfort in the knowledge that this young man volunteered and gave his life in the highest cause known to man—the cause of human freedom which down through the years has been preserved because brave men were prepared to die to save their fellows from the yoke of tyranny and oppression. 'Greater love hath no man than this'.

"It is right that this Assembly should record its tribute to the memory of this valiant young man, and its heartfelt sympathy to those who mourn his loss."

The premier then moved his resolution, which Mr. Walker seconded.

Elmer E. Roper, C.C.F. M.L.A. for Edmonton and provincial leader of the C.C.F. party, rose and expressed his association with remarks made by Mr. Manning and Mr. Walker, whereupon Mr. Speaker Peter Dawson called for a standing vote of the House members.

Urges Alberta Be Given Part Of North's Oil

If any further development of northern oil fields is undertaken in the future, part of the supply obtained should be diverted to Alberta, E. J. Martin, Independent M.L.A. for Peace River, stated in the Legislature Thursday. He said the diversion should be made because of the limited life of the Turner Valley oil field.

Making reference to an article published in an Edmonton newspaper Wednesday which said that if any agreement is reached between Canada and the United States, a further pipeline may be built to carry oil to the western seaboard, Mr. Martin asked the government the following question:

ASKS "INTENTION"

"Before any such agreement can be reached, will the Alberta government urge upon the Dominion government the claims of Alberta to share in future production of the northern oil fields, and to proceed with plans to divert a considerable proportion of same into this province?"

In reply, Premier Ernest Manning said that the Alberta government has never been slow in urging its claims on the Dominion government, or anyone else.

"The honorable member for Peace River need have no fear that the interests of this province will not be looked after," Mr. Manning declared.

Just before Mr. Martin asked his question, he said that when the first pipe line (the Canol line) was built, it was impossible to comment on it, because the queston oif national safety was involved. Oil which should have been diverted south into Alberta was piped to the Pacific coast, Mr. Martin continued, and in peace time oil can be delivered easily by tanker to that area, from California and South America.

IMPORTANT NEED

Said the member: "We are informed that Turner Valley, now furnishing 96 per cent of Alberta's oil production, has a limited life. It is therefore important that any further exploitation of the northern oil should be diverted south to Alberta, where we have not the opportunity of having it delivered by tanker."

RECTAL SORENESS AND
PILE TORTURE
QUICKLY RELIEVED

If you are troubled with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not delay treatment and run the risk of letting this condition become chronic. Any itching or soreness or painful passage of stool is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once.

For this purpose get a package of Hem-Roid from Merrick Drug Stores or any druggist, and use as directed. This formula which is used internally is a small easy to take tablet, will quickly relieve the itching and soreness and aid in healing the sore tender spots. Hem-Roid is pleasant to use, is highly recommended and it seems the height of folly for any one to risk a painful and chronic pile condition when such a fine remedy may be had at such a small cost.

If you try Hem-roid and are not entirely pleased with the results, your druggist will gladly return your money.

Chest Directors Are Elected at Annual Meeting

The following new members were elected to the board of directors of the Community Chest of Edmonton at its third annual meeting in the Macdonald hotel Thursday evening, and they will serve for the ensuing three-year period until the annual meeting of 1947:

J. Dower, Elmer E. Roper, M.L.A., and Hon. Solon E. Low, provincial treasurer, to service on the campaign committee; H. R. Milner, K.C., H. R. Pearson and R. E. Staples to represent the contributors; H. G. Roche, W. G. Walford and W. C. Bruce to represent the participating agencies.

Dr. G. E. Little and William Kerr were elected to serve one year as representatives of the Council of Social Agencies.

PRESIDENT'S REPORT

In his report, President Julian Garrett reviewed the work of the Community Chest. He said that while the Community Chest has done a very excellent job of fulfilling its objectives, it has failed to make any "real effort" to let our generous-minded citizens know that we would welcome a few bequests.

"I am sowing the seed of this thought now," he continued, "in the hope that it will soon bear fruit. To bequeath a share of one's wealth to the Community Chest, particularly in the form of a fund to bear interest that will accrue to the Chest from year to year, is to perpetuate one's giving," he said.

He pointed out that while the Chest allocated more than $79,000 to its agencies in 1943, this sum was actually a contribution of only 20.2 per cent of the total income of these agencies.

The Community Chest makes contributions to some 28 agencies in the city, Mr. Garrett said, and many people do not realize that "when the chest first commenced to function, the budget committee adopted the policy, so far as possible, of limiting its allocation to each agency to the total amount which that agency had previously obtained by its own solicitation of the public."

$7,000 OVER TOP

In paying tribute to J. G. Nickerson, treasurer, Ed. H. Ayling, R. M. Montague, Rowwan W. MacKenzie and Mrs. S. H. Gandier for their faithful service and efforts on behalf of the Community Chest, Mr. Garrett explained that although the campaign committee brought the total raised in 1943, about $7,000 over the top, approximately $5,000 of this was a result of contributions made by the American firms and their Canadian and American employees.

This source of contribution, he said, may not be available in the next campaign and the Community Chest must "keep far enough ahead of the community to be progressive and also close enough to be practical."

Reporting on the budget committee, Dr. Harold Orr, chairman, pointed out that the chief functions of the committee have been carried out. They are "to examine the requests for allocations by the participating members, and to make such allocations as are justified on the basis of operation and the financial positions of these members, and to keep constant check on the financial operations of the agencies to see that the budget which has been passed, is maintained."

CONSIDER OPERATIONS

In every case where requests are made, he said, consideration is given to the financial operations of the agencies for the preceding year, of the current year to date, and the budget for the following year.

The budget committee, he added, provides for unexpected emergencies which may change the financial outlook of an organization and also for the reduction of allocations where an agency develops a surplus.

In the absence of E. H. Ayling, campaign committee chairman, the report was given by M. Montague.

"There are over 21,000 persons who, through contribution really are the Community Chest," he said. "Each one of these, has a stake in the 28 welfare organizations which are assisted by the Chest."

$18,550 NOT COLLECTED

Although the Chest in 1943, he said, went over the goal by approximately $7,000, a balance of $18,550 of the total $105,683 pledged, has yet to be collected.

The treasurer's and auditor's reports revealed that the total revenue received in the "1943 campaign" was $93,107.50, of which $79,726.53 was allocated to institutional members as approved by the budget committee.

For 1944 the Community Chest has allocated over $80,000 to institutional members and received over $105,000 in pledges.

It was announced that a full financial statement of the Community Chest will be made available to the public through the press within a few days.

Consideration of terms of department of public welfare bill (provincial government) was delegated to the board of directors which will meet Feb. 28 to discuss its affect on the member organizations of the Community Chest. The board, at that time, will also elect new officers.

Chest Endorses Chamber Plan For Donations

The third annual meeting of the Community Chest of Edmonton at the Macdonald hotel Thursday voted to endorse the recommendation of the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce for modification of the present plan for limitations on charitable contributions.

The Community Chest will make representations through the Canadian Welfare Association in Ottawa, supporting the telegram which has been sent to the Hon. J. L. Ilsley at Ottawa by the Chamber of Commerce after its council meeting on Wednesday.

TEXT OF TELEGRAM

The text of the telegram is as follows:

"While recognizing necessity of adequate provision against extremist action in connection with charitable contributions, Edmonton Chamber of Commerce suggests two modifications to the present plan for limitation.

"First, that there be exempted from the effect of the proposed limitation those charities which, if not supported adequately by public contribution, would have to be supported by the government, for example, the Canadian Red Cross.

"Second, to except also contributions to such specified essential charities as can demonstrate increased budget requirements over the base period, for example, community chests and united welfare funds.

(Signed) Edmonton Chamber of Commerce."

The resolution to endorse the recommendations made by the Chamber was unanimously passed after a report by Mr. J. Gordon Skinner on the possible harsh effect of this new order on small businesses and their ability to make contributions.

Allies Slowly Turning the Tide in Fierce Fighting For Rome

War materials and supplies are shown being rolled ashore in a truck from a landing craft at Anzio, Italy, for Allied troops fighting against German pressure below Rome.

British infantrymen are shown marching through battered Anzio, on the Allied beachhead south of Rome. Large German forces were thrown against the Allies in an effort to drive them into the sea, but the tide of battle now is turning against them.

Roosevelt prayed that rains in Italy would let up to relieve conditions such as this. Weather was against the Allies broadening their beachhead south of Rome and it hampered their fight against the Nazis. In the see-saw battle, Allied forces gradually are gaining strength and Prime Minister Churchill has given assurance that "Rome will be won". This is a hospital tent centre behind the front.

No Decision Yet Reached On Canol Oil

By B. T. RICHARDSON
Edmonton Bulletin Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA, Feb. 25.—Negotiations between Canada and United States regarding the future of the great Canol oil development in the Canadian North West Territories have not yet reached a conclusive stage, the Free Press learned today, following reports from Washington to indicate that American plans to abandon Canol and transfer oil development and drilling activities to Alaskan territory were actually under way. Decisions on the Canol project have recently become a crucial issue in the future of the Canadian northwest, Ottawa observers believe.

There was some reason to believe the Canol project, in which the U.S. war department poured $134,000,000 and earned severe criticism from the war expenditures committee of the U.S. Senate, may become a pawn in the new struggle for world oil reserves. The U.S. Senate committee, headed by Senator Truman, recently issued a report urging the U.S. government to approach Allied governments, especially Great Britain to transfer proven oil reserves to the United States in compensation for the war drain on U.S. oil wells.

IMPERIAL CONCESSION

The concession in Canol, centreing around Norman wells, on the Mackenzie river, is held by Imperial Oil Co., Canadian subsidiary of Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey, and all wells drilled by the U.S. war department will revert to Imperial Oil. Neither the Canadian nor American government wants to enter the oil business directly, but a powerful congressional drive exists in Washington to obtain United States oil reserves throughout the world. They would be held by private companies.

One possible point of issue between Canadian and U.S. authorities is seen in the American desire to leave oil reserves, on which they obtain options, in the ground. The Canadian government, it is believed, is anxious to promote the economic development of North West Canada, and it will, undoubtedly consider its position if the United States walks off the Canol project. Whether Imperial Oil or some agency more closely related to government control undertakes further development in the Mackenzie River oil field, is a matter of speculation.

Imperial Oil Company, it is understood, now wants to take over all drilling and exploration work. Originally the company's advice to the U.S. war department, as shown in the Truman committee report of January 8, 1944, was that Canol would hardly have a commercial future.

URGE NEW AGREEMENT

The Truman committee recommended that the U.S. Government secure a new agreement with the Canadian government and with Imperial Oil regarding its right to recover its expenditures in Canol and exercise control in future. Canadian government policy has firmly opposed granting U.S. postwar rights to any military development in Canada at American expense. No reason exists to believe this will change, but Canada has been prepared consistently through the Permanent Joint Defence Board, to work out problems of oil reserves and military works in full collaboration with the United States.

Political Meetings Banned in Quebec City Parish Halls

QUEBEC, Feb. 25.—(CP)—In a statement issued here yesterday, Cardinal Villeneuve, Archbishop of Quebec, said that "to prevent complications to the prejudice of religion, parish-halls of the archiepiscopal city of Quebec shall henceforth not be used for meetings of any political party."

Cardinal Villeneuve added "the meetings will however be tolerated in parish-halls outside the city because those halls are generally located less close to the church than in the city and are often the only place where public meetings can be held."

Budget Surplus Is Shown by Quebec

QUEBEC, Feb. 25.—(CP)—Provincial Treasurer Arthur Mathewson presented his fifth budget to the Quebec legislative assembly yesterday, and forecast overall surplus for 1943-44 and 1944-45. On the basis of 10 months actual and two months estimated expenditures and revenues, Mr. Mathewson forecast a surplus of $225,000 for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1944, and predicted a surplus of $275,948 for the following year.

OTTAWA, Feb. 25.—(CP)—Representatives of underground resistance groups in France are arriving in Algiers daily with information for the Allies of what is going on inside that country, Capt. Gerard Raoul-Duval, newly-appointed first secretary to the French national committee here, said yesterday in an interview.

Wednesday Meat Ban on Catholics For Lent Lifted

MONTREAL, Feb. 25—(CP)—Roman Catholics here and in Quebec have been granted permission to eat meat on Wednesdays during Lent, it was announced last night. Cardinal Villeneuve, Archbishop of Quebec, and Archbishop Joseph Charbonneau of Montreal, lifted the church's abstinence ruling as otherwise the predominantly Roman Catholic population in their dioceses would have faced the prospect of three meatless days a week during the Lenten season.

"My wife was a little afraid when I decided to get back on the job."

YOU, too, can serve your country The Bulletin "Help Wanted" ads will show you how

You see I've been retired for nearly ten years and, well,—we both thought that I'd said good-bye to work for good. But I got to thinking the other night when I was going through my paper (reading the help ads as a matter of fact) and it just struck me all those plants needing men on jobs I can do—the least I could do was to try—so I'm starting to-morrow—yes, the wife's a little worried but underneath she's a little bit proud of the fact that I'm able to get back into harness—and confidentially, I'm a little proud of myself.

The Bulletin's SPORT SHOW by Hal Dean

SPORTS EDITOR

WITH hockey and basketball playoffs just nicely underway it seems a far cry to fastball (the official title for softball in the prairie provinces), although not too distant for Paul Soderberg who is out with a notice of the annual meeting Sunday for the Edmonton District Fastball Association.

According to the Toronto Globe and Mail, the pro softball league will operate under different auspices this coming season. Apparently P. K. Wrigley, the circuit's sugar daddy to the tune of a hundred grand or so last year, has retreated within the precincts of the Cubs' ball park and so the setup for the gals' loop will be different from now on. This year each town will own its club with the Chicago headquarters responsible for uniforms only.

So far Racine is the only entry with the required $25,000 to lay on the line for a franchise. And Johnny Gottselig, who guided Racine to the championship in 1943 has been retained as manager. Officials of the Rockford Peaches are conducting a canvass of industrial plants and prominent people in their city in an effort to raise the necessary sum to continue.

It is reported that Toledo and Milwaukee are two likely entries, but the distance between these two cities would entail quite a problem in the matter of transportation. The hint has been dropped too that competition for places on the various teams this season will be much keener.

FIFTH BROTHER ACT

THE only goalers in the National hockey league who have played every game for their respective teams this season, belong, oddly enough to the first and last-place teams. They are Bill Durnan, of Canadiens coasting along at the top of the heap and Ken McAuley, of the New York Rangers, cellar dwellers.

Dalton (Nakina) Smith and Carl (Winky) Smith recently formed the fifth brother combination in the history of N.H.L. hockey in Detroit. The others included Mud and Eddie Bruneteau, Wally, Hector and Ken Kilrea, Frankie and Johnny Sheppard and Earl and Desse Roche. Johnny Sheppard, it will be recalled, played with the Edmonton Eskimos in the old Western Canada hockey league prior, to joining Detroit. Frank, younger than Johnny was with Regina and Vancouver, before heading east.

Montreal Canadiens broke a jinx of long standing, when on January 23 they defeated Boston Bruins in Boston by a score of 4-1. Although they had engaged in some ties there in the interim, Canadiens had not turned in a victory on Bruin ice since Nov. 26, 1940 when they edged out Boston 3-2. Since then the Habitants had failed to come through with a win in 17 games. But evidently the old hex may have returned, for (just in case you may have forgotten) Canadiens were shut out at Boston 3-0 on Feb. 8.

HOOP PLAYOFFS TONIGHT

FINAL games in the City Men's Basketball League round-robin are being played at Westglen tonight. Yanks, with a pair of wins already in the old haversack, will oppose U.S. Station Hospital and Engineers will entertain the Quartermasters.

The Beacon, publication of the U.S. Army Air Base here, rates the Engineers as having an excellent chance to cop the big hoop tournament of the Alaskan Wing, being staged at Station 3 (our guess is Fairbanks) at the end of the month.

Following players are reported to be making the trip: S.Sgt. Gulleksen, Cpls. Miller, Murphy and Smith, Pfc. Kroma, Pvts. Chamness and Ayers—better known respectively to local cage fans as John, Harley, Lou, "Windy", Mike, Bob and Earl.

Has Big Night

Max Bentley, former Chicago Black Hawks' sniping ace and lately setting a fast pace in the Central Alberta Garrison Hockey League, had a big night Thursday when he scored three of Currie's four markers, one of which was the deciding counter in overtime. The extra session tally was more than a game-winning goal, however, as the victory for the Calgary Army pucksters enabled them to clinch first place in the circuit.

Max Bentley Scores Three For Winners

RED DEER, Alta., Feb. 25.—(CP)—Calgary A-16 Currie Barracks last night were assured of first place in the Central Alberta Garrison Hockey League with a 4-3 overtime victory over Red Deer Army Wheelers.

The victory gave Currie 18 points, four more than the Wheelers and Calgary Tecumseh-Mustangs, with only one game to play to complete the 24-contest schedule.

Pte. Max Bentley, 23-year-old Currie centre ice star and former Chicago Black Hawk player in the National Hockey League, was the standout of the game, scoring three goals. The other Currie goal-getter was Cpl. Alex Kaleta, also a former Black Hawk performer.

The game was played before a capacity crowd and was fast throughout. Currie went into the third period with a 3-1 lead but the Wheelers came through with the needed goals to force the overtime.

Wheeler scorers were Cpl. George Pargeter and Ptes. Bud Emery and Eddie Slowinski.

Hundreds of fans were turned away for last night's all-important game. A victory for Red Deer would have created a first-place tie and left a possible chance of the schedule ending with the three clubs tied as Currie and Tecumseh-Mustangs clash in the final contest at Calgary Saturday night.

Bentley scored his first goal on a solo effort less than two minutes after the start of the game and Pargeter equalized at 10:46 with a close-in shot on a pass from Emery. Play was wide open with both clubs staging dangerous rushes.

Kaleta gave the visitors a 2-1 lead at 4:06 of the second period and Bentley notched his second goal on a breakaway. The Currie defence was hard to penetrate in this session and Wheeler shots were made from long range.

Defenceman Anderson of Currie was penalized for boarding at the start of the third period and Currie "iced" the puck while he served his time. Slowinski and Emery combined to beat the Currie netminder from close in and Emery tied the score on a corner pass from Pte. Eddie O'Keefe.

With only 72 seconds remaining in the overtime period Bentley scored the game-winning goal.

Playoff Fixtures Westglen Tonight

What is billed as the final doubleheader in the Edmonton Men's Basketball League round-robin playoff series for the loop title will be staged at the Westglen high school gym tonight at 7:30.

Both games should be well worth seeing. Quartermasters and Engineers, both with one win in two starts meet in the first and later the U.S. Army Air Corps Yanks, who are unbeaten in two contests will take on the winless Station Hospital squad.

A victory in the afterpiece for the Yanks will give them the title while on the other hand if they are upset the winner of the first title will be tied with them and an extra playoff will be necessary

Esquires Take First of Series

WINNIPEG, Feb. 25.—(CP)—Winnipeg Esquires took the first game of the Manitoba Junior (north division) play-offs here Thursday night, defeating St. Boniface Athletics 5-4.

The Leafs came back into the game at 3:00 when Elwin Morris stole the puck at the Canadien blue line and let go a soft one that rolled over Durnan's stick into the net.

Hastings Is Said Unfit For Racing

VANCOUVER, Feb. 25. — The West Coast Horsemen's Association at its annual meeting last night passed a resolution supporting the contention of the British Columbia Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals that Hastings Park race track at Vancouver is unfit for racing.

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—(AP)—New York Rangers, who haven't won a game in over a month, turned in their best performance of the National Hockey League season last night to earn a 3-3 tie with the high flying Detroit Red Wings. It was their second tie game in a string of 12 without a victory.

The Rangers rallied halfway through the final frame to knot the count at 3-3 after the Red Wings had scored twice to forge ahead.

A gift goal kept the Rangers in the running after Billy Gooden had given them a first period lead and Don Grosso had tied it up for Detroit early in the second. Detroit's Bill Jennings, trying to clear Dutch Hiller's short rebound, drove the puck into his own cage.

Murray Armstrong and Carl Liscombe sank third period goals to give Detroit the lead, but halfway through the period Bryan Hextall tied the count for good.

Bombers Capture Maple Leaf Title

Bombers emerged victorious in the Maple Leafs Bantam Hockey League by winning a best of three final series from the Dynamiters which wound up Wednesday at the 96 street rink with the teams fighting to a 2-2 draw.

Bombers had previously taken the series opener 4-1 and then tied 1-1 in the second. This, along with the 2-2 deadlock qualified them to carry the Maple Leaf colors into the city playdowns against the Canadian and Edmonton Athletic Club bantams.

For the remainder of the season, aside from the playoffs, the club will arrange a challenge competition between the four bantam teams.

E.A.C. Ousts South Side From Juvenile Puck Playoffs

COMING through with a 4-3 victory at the 119 street rink Thursday night, Edmonton Athletic Club ousted South Side from the city Juvenile Hockey League playoffs by taking the two-game, total-goal semi-final series 11-5. The Clubmen won the opening fixture last Monday 7-2 and will now meet Maple Leafs in the finals.

Terry Cavanagh again showed the way for the E.A.C. squad with three goals. Ronnie Lane scored the other counter for the winners while Don Robertson with two goals and Jack Stollery with one were the losers' marksmen.

There was no scoring in the first period, but Cavanagh opened up in the second and drove home two before South Side were able to turn on the red light behind Grant DeFrain who played a great game in the E.A.C. nets.

Cavanagh's first came on a pass from Eric MacDonald at the three minute mark of that session and his second on a relay from Lane at 11:00. Robertson came back only a minute later, however, to cut the lead to 2-1 when he finished off a play with Stollery.

Stollery drove home a pass from Robertson just 30 seconds after the opening whistle in the third to tie it up 2-2 and then Robertson tallied on a solo effort less than four minutes latre to put the South Siders ahead.

The losers were unable to increase their lead, however, and the Clubmen came back and Cavanagh finished off another play with Lane to deadlock the count midway through the last and then Lane, with only two minutes to go, scored on a pass from MacDonald for the winners to end the tallying.

Flamingo Stakes Big Winter Test For 3-Year-Olds

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 25.—(AP)—With storybook colts installed as favorites, it's a good bet that the running of the $15,000 added Flamingo Stakes Saturday will write a romantic chapter in the annals of the big winter test for three-year-olds.

Most of the top horses in the Hialeah Park feature have unusual histories which set them apart from the run-of-the-mine thoroughbreds, and should an outsider win, the upset will project the victor overnight into the Kentucky Derby picture.

Ella K. Bruson's Director J. E. is the advance choice. Sickle's flashy brown son was a $2,500 yearling which, in his first racing season, earned $16,130 by winning five of 11 starts.

As a three-year-old here he has won two out of three, including last Saturday's Stagehand purse. A few weeks ago, his stable refused a $75,000 offer for the colt from Fred Hooper.

Today's Sport Parade

—By Jack Cuddy—

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin
Copyright, 1944, by British United Press

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—The postman not only rang twice for Chris Dundee but he actually presented Chris with "the bell." This story book presentation may have opened a new, fabulous chapter in the chronicle of clout, already studded with episodes in which Lady Luck played such an important role.

Bespectacled Chris was the man for whom "the bell" tolled one afternoon last June. Dundee, a fight manager suffering from a certain nostalgia due to the absence of the persons and purses of such gladiators as Ken Overlin and Georgie Abrams, who had gone into service, picked up a letter from Youngstown, O., and opened it.

The composer of that June epistle—a youthful Negro of Youngstown, named Tommy Bell—asked Dundee to become his manager. It seemed that Tommy's brother-manager had gone into the army, leaving Tommy at liberty.

"We might as well get together," Dundee said to himself.

MOST PROMISING FIGHTER

THUS did Dundee become pilot of sensational Tommy Bell, the lad who last week turned the iron-man trick of registering three knockouts in three different cities—the most promising youngster in the welterweight division, who is working on a string of 34 straight victories, including 25 kayoes.

In the hinterlands, some of the experts have tabbed 20-year-old Bell, "the black McLarnin," because his combination of style, poise, boxing brilliance and devastating right hand are reminiscent of the great Jimmy McLarnin, former king of the welters.

Terrific Tommy, visiting briefly in New York, was at Stillman's gymnasium yesterday, accompanied by Dundee. Tommy—tall, slender and broad-shouldered, with 148 pounds on a five-foot-11-inch beam—said he was gunning for a New York shot at Tippy Larkin or Bummy Davis. But, meanwhile, the dead-panned kid said he would be glad to entertain all comers—at any time and at any place. "Ah ain't a bit choosy," he explained. His next opponent is one Irwin Hicks at Pittsburgh, Monday night.

RANG BELL THREE TIMES

LAST week Tommy rang the bell three times by knocking out Ernie Pelaia in the third round at Pittsburgh on Monday; Chuck Hunter in the second at Cleveland on Tuesday, and Johnny Abbott in the third at Detroit on Friday. "Ah likes to keep busy," he said.

Previous victims included Buddy Farrell, Bee-Bee Wright, Tommy James, Willie Chetum, Verne Patterson, Kid Robinson.

"It's a good thing I was in a lonesome mood when I read that letter, otherwise I might have tossed it into the basket and missed out on this cash-register bell," Dundee said.

After being denied the right to run Tuesday the $700 bargain horse breezed six furlongs in approximately 1:16 as Sabath and Trainer Sarge Swenke sought to prove that the veterinarians' finding was but an enlarged tendon.

Pepper To Be Pinch-Hitter

Southworth Claims Martin To Be "Youngest Old Man"

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 25.—(AP)—John L. (Pepper) Martin, who is returning to his beloved St. Louis Cards, will be the "youngest old man on any baseball club in the major leagues," manager Billy Southworth beamed yesterday.

Southworth, said everyone, including Martin himself, realized the famed "Wild Horse of the Osage" no longer could play regularly. "But a lot of guys are going to be fooled if they think 'Pep' is creaking around on tired, doddering legs," he chuckled.

Southworth

"Why just last season 'Pep' was the fastest man on the Rochester club. He proved it in a race one day."

Pepper disclosed yesterday he was going back to the Cardinals after a four-year absence. He left St. Louis in 1940 to manage the Rochester club in the International League.

He will go to training camps at Cairo, Ill., with the Cards March 15 and will be permitted to condition himself to be a utility man, the Cardinal manager said. "He is old enough to know what he needs."

"Pep," who will be 40 years old next week, roamed the outfield and won fame as a base-stealer while playing with the Cards for 11 years.

"I'll use him for spot work," Southwork said, "and that is an important job in my book. I hope to play him occasionally and I'll use his big bat against left-handers. 'Pep' will make a fine pinch-hitter as he wouldn't feel the pressure a younger player notices when called on, in a pinch."

Quebec Fighter Qualifies For British Tourney

SLOUGH, Buckinghamshire, Eng., Feb. 25.—(CP Cable)—Gnr. Doug. Marsh of Verdun, Que., last night became the only Canadian to qualify for the British army boxing championships at Blackpool, March 8, when he won the southern area middleweight title here.

Marsh, who won the Canadian army (United Kingdom) middleweight crown at Epsom last week, featured a two-fisted attack in gaining the decision over a bewildered royal artilleryman, Gnr. Smitty Smith in three rounds. But it was the clever, right-handed smashes of the former Montreal Star copy boy that gained the judges' nod.

Two other Canadian army champions, Tpr. Joe Main of Calgary and Sgt. Jack Ennis of Windsor, Ont., lost in the area finals last night.

Main was considered by some ringside observers unlucky to lose to Cpl. G. S. K. Preston, a hard-hitting Commando, a former British Boxing Association titlist.

L.-Bdr. Johnny Scott, former Europe police champion, had to step to gain the decision over Ennis.

Scott's Fliers and Billie Rose are tied for the grand aggregate, both having lost only one game in competition to date. The 'spiel is expected to wind up tomorrow night.

Plaut, the first journalist to receive the award since it was inaugurated by the writers, was honored for inaugurating the co-operative effort of the American turf to assist in war relief. The program raised more than $8,000,000 in 21 months.

Safety pins were first devised by Walter Hunt in 1849.

"Whit" Matthews Elected President

Canadian Golf Championships Not To Be Revived This Year

MONTREAL, Feb. 25.—(CP)—The Royal Canadian Golf Association decided Thursday at its 45th annual meeting here that "so long as existing war conditions continue the Canadian annual golf championships will not be revived.

However, the association added its decision would be revised "as soon as war conditions so change as to reasonably warrant a return to our former policy."

Reports read at the meeting showed that the game will go on for its sixth wartime season and officials said the golf situation would not be "any more acute" than last season.

Dr. W. A. Matthews of Edmonton was elected president succeeding M. R. Ferguson of Montreal.

Those elected to the executive included: Hon. John Hart, British Columbia; Dr. W. C. Broadfoot, Alberta; E. M. Holiday, Saskatchewan.

Mr. Ferguson said the Dominion-wide Red Cross tournament was a "great success" last year and will be revived this year on June 24.

He added that reports showed the majority of the clubs under the association's jurisdiction had decided to carry on for the ensuing year although they found 1943 "far from successful".

While crude rubber is still not available for the manufacturing of golf balls, he said, there would be "sufficient re-made balls to enable golfers to continue playing."

St. Regis Club Pilot Remanded

VANCOUVER, Feb. 25.—(CP)—Coley Hall, manager of Vancouver St. Regis hockey team, was Thursday remanded until Feb. 29 when he appeared in police court here on a charge of assaulting Carl Robertson, Vancouver News-Herald sports writer. Hearing of the case last week was postponed until yesterday.

The assault on Robertson is alleged to have occurred in the Vancouver forum arena office after Hall complained to Robertson about a News-Herald article which quoted Doug. Grimston, president of the British Columbia Amateur Hockey Association, as saying Dave (Sweeney) Schriner, former Toronto Maple Leaf, was ineligible to play for St. Regis in the recent play-off series with New Westminster Lodestars.

Although Schriner starred for the St. Regis team in all three games, New Westminster Lodestars won the title.

In an editorial at the time the News-Herald said Hall had complained the News-Herald's report of Schriner's ineligibility ruined the gate.

Apply NOW for your new Gasoline Ration Books

On and after April 1, no graded gasoline will be sold except upon the presentation of a 1944-45 ration coupon book.

To assure themselves sufficient gasoline to carry on normal business activities after March 31, operators of commercial vehicles are urged to complete at once and in detail the required application for each of their vehicles. By co-operating in this way, they will help to reduce to a minimum any delay in issuing new gasoline licenses and ration coupon books.

The operation of the 1944-45 gasoline rationing plan is basically the same as that now in effect. After investigation, an allowance will be fixed for each commercial vehicle. This allowance will be measured to the essential wartime needs of the vehicle.

On and after April 1, service station attendants will not accept gasoline ration coupons unless the license plate number of the motor vehicle for which they were issued is written in ink on each coupon. With the 1944-45 gasoline license, a new windshield sticker, bearing the letter "T", will be issued. Until this sticker is affixed, no gasoline may be purchased for the vehicle.

PROCEDURE TO BE FOLLOWED BY APPLICANT FOR "COMMERCIAL" CATEGORY

Every commercial vehicle operator must obtain a separate gasoline license and ration coupon book for each commercial vehicle in operation, and must file a separate application for each such vehicle. Here is how he obtains his gasoline license and ration coupon book or books:

1. He secures his 1944 vehicle license plate and/or permit.
2. He secures an application form from his nearest Post Office.
3. He fills out this form, answering every question completely and accurately.
4. He has this form properly endorsed.
5. He sends by mail to the nearest Regional Oil Control Office his application, his motor vehicle registration permit and a $1 registration fee. (The fee of $1 must accompany each application).
6. He will receive, after a week or more during which his application is carefully investigated, his gasoline license and ration coupon book or books, and his motor vehicle registration permit will be returned.
7. He should write in ink on each coupon the license plate number of the motor vehicle.

Federal Farm Policy Debated In Sask. House

REGINA, Feb. 25.—(CP)—Debate continued yesterday in the Saskatchewan legislature on agricultural policies of the Dominion Government.

Omer Demers (L-Shellbrook) introduced a sub-amendment to an amendment to an agricultural motion introduced earlier in the session by G. H. Danielson (L-Arm River). He urged a federal agricultural policy which would provide crop insurance on an individual basis under an extended and revised Prairie Farm Assistance Act.

LONG-TERM CREDIT

Mr. Demers contended the policy should include continuation of long term farm credit by the Canadian Farm Loan Board at reduced interest rates and establishment of a board of livestock commissioners.

Mr. Demers also urged that the Federal policy grant to Canadian Co-Operative Implements Limited, an import quota to enable that organization to distribute to its members its share of the production of factories jointly owned by Co-Operatives of Canada and the United States.

Mr. Danielson's original resolution recorded appreciation for present federal agricultural policies and urged the Dominion government to establish floor prices for staple farm products at a level to guarantee all producers returns comparable with workers engaged in other industries.

URGED INCREASES

It urged immediate increases in guaranteed prices for flax and other oil bearing seeds and suggested continuance of the 1943 wheat acreage reduction policy.

Big Task Seen Re-Establishing Women Workers

VICTORIA, Feb. 25.—(CP)—Re-establishment of women now in war industries is a major problem to be faced in Canada and especially in British Columbia, Mrs. Grace MacInnis, (C.C.F.-Vancouver Burrard) told the legislature yesterday during the budget debate.

One job in five in Canada is held by a woman, she said, and in British Columbia the rate is one in three. In all Canada there were 1,200,000 women in industry and 100,000 of them had left farms for wartime industry. In B.C. alone probably more than 100,000 women were working, she stated.

Almost half the women in industry had no intentoin of returning to their homes when peace came, she said, and of these the large single group was made up of 19-year-old girls who professed no desire for marriage.

Repatriate Says:

Sabotage and Terrorism Sweep Whole of France

Reports of widespread sabotage and terrorism in France are confirmed in the following dispatch from Ralph E. Heinzen, former British United Press correspondent in France. It was the first direct word from Heinzen since he was taken into German internment when Germany completed her occupation of France. Heinzen is among a number of repatriates scheduled to arrive in Lisbon today.—EDITOR.

By RALPH E. HEINZEN
Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

SAN SEBASTIAN, Spain, Feb. 24.—(Delayed)—In the face of executions and imprisonment, patriots are carrying on their campaigns of sabotage and waves of terrorism in France.

The desperate efforts of Vichy and German military authorities to halt the activities has failed thus far, for when I left France today a wave of terrorism was sweeping the country.

Courts martial condemned 58 persons to death in the last week alone, and at Paris, all but one of a group of 24 were executed after a swift trial in the French courts.

The Germans seized 17 persons at Bordeaux for sabotaging military stocks and attacking German sentinels, while reliable reports said the entire Haute-Savoy region was ablaze with patriot terrorism.

HAVE RAID DETAILS

A party of 154 U.S. citizens and 10 South Americans—diplomats, Red Cross workers and newspapermen—who were interned at Baden Baden, are bringing with them details of the destruction caused by Allied bombers in raids on Berlin, Hamburg, Frankfurt, Leipzig, the Rhineland and the Ruhr.

We got a brief glance at the German Atlantic wall defences during a four-day stay at Biarritz, on the French side of the Franco-Spanish border, but the Germans lowered train curtains, making it impossible to see the details.

The internees generally accused the Laval government of violating the "traditional diplomatic law which exists among civilized governments" by aiding their arrests by the Germans.

Thirty Red Cross workers charged that they were forced to labor in violation of interational law on meagre rations which included two eggs in 13 months and almost no fruit.

1 Taunting Word Japs Can't Take

SEATTLE, Feb. 25.—(AP)—One taunting word causes many otherwise stealthy Jap snipers to make known their jungle positions, says Cpl. Loring Cleaveland, a marine recently returned from Bougainville. The word sounds something like "tinohichumbotta," and means "the emperor is a fool."

Warns Victories Still To Be Won

LONDON, Feb. 25.—(CP)—Viscount Cranborne, dominions secretary, yesterday warned in a war debate in the House of Lords that tremendous victories are to be won and still heavier losses to be incurred before conditions are produced in which reconstruction can take place.

The government leader in the Upper House continued that "almost as much time of the ministers is occupied today with plans for the transitional, post-war period as is occupied by war."

Lord Winster, Labor peer, hit sharply at the government with the statement that "the story of our failure to produce what is wanted (in war weapons) is a scandal almost approaching the magnitude of the scandal in shells in the last war."

He also criticized the aircraft provided the fleet air arm, and the army tanks.

Lord Cranborne did not make a direct reply to him.

Northern Projects Have Role in Peace

CALGARY, Feb. 25.—(CP)—The great projects undertaken throughout the northwest have served their primary purposes in defence against the Japanese threat and now they will continue to be of the utmost value in aiding Russia, said Major-General W. W. Foster, C.M.G., D.S.O., special commissioner for defence projects in northwest Canada, when he spoke to the Calgary branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada Thursday evening.

These projects will also play their part in preparing for the final encounter with Japan in the Pacific, he said.

The end of the war will see a new northwest. Through the agency of the great projects, which were initiated for defence, this continent and Asia will be linked with peace time travel. In addition airfields and subsidiary undertakings will be instrumental in the development of the natural resources of the northwestern area.

Urges Labor Purge Ranks of Culprits To Avert Strikes

MONTREAL, Feb. 25.—(CP)—R. N. Watt, president of the Montreal Tramways Company, in a statement issued yesterday, said "a great responsibility rests on organized labor to take the necessary steps to purge their ranks" before means may be suggested to prevent a recurrence of last week-end's tramways strike here.

A two-man commission—comprising representatives of the federal and provincial labor departments—was appointed to find the causes of the strike and suggest steps to prevent its recurrence.

Mr. Watt said that, without presuming to suggest to the commission what action it should take, he hoped "that they will be able to discover the culprits and take appropriate action against them. If not, I do not see how they can suggest means to prevent a recurrence of the strike.

Swedish Mission Completes Ottawa Talks on Trade

OTTAWA, Feb. 25.—(CP)—The Swedish trade mission which yesterday completed its conferences in Ottawa is the forerunner of negotiators who will work out a trade agreement between Canada and Sweden, Rolf V. Heidenstam, chairman of the mission, said yesterday.

Mr. Heidenstam said he had asked his government to study opportunities for trade between the two countries both before the end of the war and after.

The mission, which includes some of Sweden's foremost industrialists, is chiefly concerned in exchanging technical knowledge, particularly in pulp and paper and associated industries, iron and steel.

Jolliffe Attacks Industrial Chiefs

TORONTO, Feb. 25.—(CP)—Opposition Leader Jolliffe yesterday told the Ontario legislature that "democracy is in danger" when a large part of political policy does not come from responsible political leaders but from men whose only claim to a hearing is that "they have millions."

He named a number of prominent industrialists and linked them with the name of Gladstone Murray, Toronto policy counsel. He said Mr. Murray, former general manager of the CBC, had been "a complete failure as a public servant" and that his efforts to speak on behalf of democracy should be "examined with care."

Mr. Jolliffe named as supporters of Mr. Murray: Arthur Schom, president of the Ontario Paper Co., and Lord Barnby whom he described as "one of the sponsors of the English-German fellowship which spread Nazi propaganda. He said other supporters were the president of the Massey Harris Co., the president of the Imperial Oil Co., and the president of the Imperial Tobacco Co., although he did not give their names.

He added there were also a number of other men in Canada who now were "devoting their time and money to individualism."

Under the bills the two pool organizations will be amalgamated under the name of the Saskatchewan Co-operative Producers Limited.

Roosevelt Stood To Lose on Veto

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—(AP)—Presidential Secretary Stephen Early said yesterday that President Roosevelt, as a timber-grower at Hyde Park, stood to lose money on his veto of the tax bill, but saved something on congressional action to override the veto. The bill, Early said, would save Mr. Roosevelt the tax of $3,000 annually on his forestry operations. He would have lost this, Early said, if congress sustained his veto.

Ralston Willing To Order Probe On Army Boots

OTTAWA, Feb. 25.—(CP)—Defence Minister Ralston said last night in the commons he was prepared to have the war expenditures committee or some other desired authority undertake an investigation of army boots.

He spoke after J. C. Diefenbaker (P.C., Lake Centre), referred to charges by James Clark, a former United Kingdom-Canada joint inspection board inspector, that 1,000,000 pairs of army boots had been made from inferior materials.

Mr. Diefenbaker asked what investigation had been made or was planned.

SERIOUS RESPONSIBILITY

The minister said Mr. Diefenbaker had taken a serious responsibility on himself in raising the Clark charges again. They had already been dealt with in a statement issued by Rt. Hon. Malcom MacDonald, United Kingdom high commissioner to Canada.

Col. Ralston said Mr. Clark had been dismissed by the inspection board last August.

Mr. Clark had said he had not received satisfaction from the defence department or the board, and intended to publish his charges.

It was felt publication would be against the interests of the war effort.

Col. Ralston said the army boots were "par excellence" and he had checked on them with men in the forces himself.

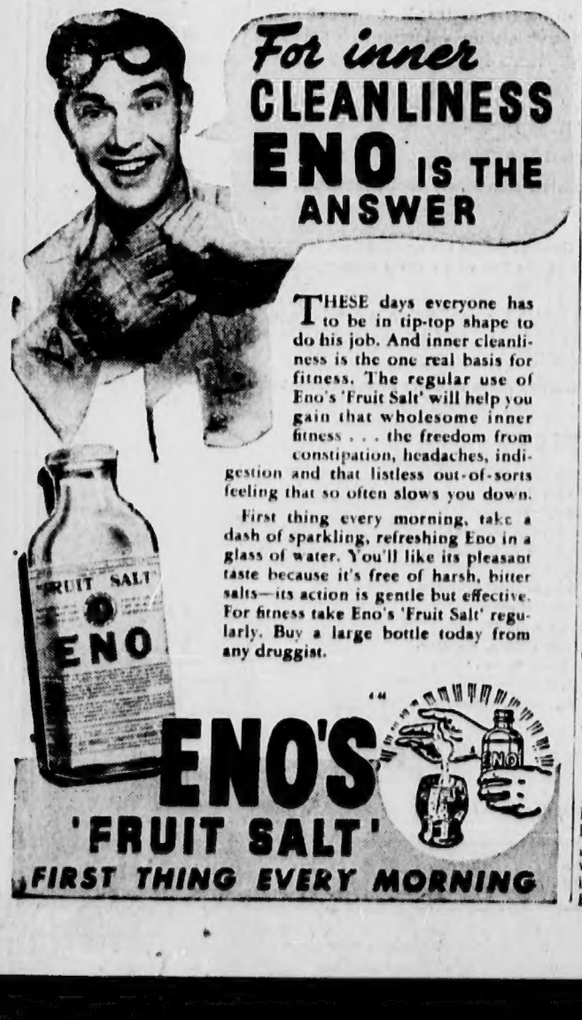

Col. Ralston and Mr. MacDonald had decided on the "usual course" of publishing the correct information on boots before Mr. Clark's article on them was published.

The examination of the facts had been made by the board itself.

See Easement of Wheat Storage Problem

Northern Alberta Farmers May Get Relief in Month According to Officials

Some relief for Northern Alberta farmers on the wheat storage problem probably will come within the next two to four weeks, it was announced Friday by Reg. T. Rose, executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

Representatives of the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce met Thursday with Dr. T. W. Grindley of Winnipeg and A. M. Millard of Calgary, both of the Canadian Wheat Board. Also attending the meeting were Dr. L. J. O'Brien, M.L.A. for Grande Prairie, and Hugh Allen, of the Peace River district. R. J. Wiggins was chairman.

The following statement was issued by the conference:

Movement of wheat to the lakehead, the United States and, in addition, the shipping of an estimated 100 cars daily to coast elevators now under way will continuously and steadily reduce the wheat now in storage in Northern Alberta elevators to permit additional deliveries by producers.

Greater difficulty is expected in handling a large amount of coarse grains, especially oats, stored in elevators and on farms because available cars are utilized to handle authorized wheat shpments and damp grain, shipment of cars, especially oats, is curtailed.

AWARE OF PROBLEM

The Wheat Board is quite aware of the problem in Northern Alberta, and the present apparent discrimination arises solely out of conditions which make it imperative to provide cars to ship wheat at once to lakehead and coast storage. All wheat shipped to the United States is in United States cars.

The demand for wheat overshadows at the moment almost every other consideration, but when navigation opens the position will be such that increasing attention can be given to providing cars for the movemept of coarse grains.

It was pointed out that Alberta is now getting 35 per cent of the cars available for Western Canada's grain movement. This percentage is comparable to Alberta's proper share and is higher than has been available for some previous months.

REVIEW SITUATION

Meanwhile, Mr. Rose said, Dr. Grindley will review the situation immediately with the Wheat Board in Winnipeg and the Chamber of Commerce will await the result of these representations before taking further action.

The Inquiring Reporter

THE QUESTION

An Edmonton Bulletin reader recently made the suggestion that war workers be accommodated by changing the present five and a half day week plan for banks and offices to working all day on alternate Saturdays. What do you think of the idea?

THE ANSWERS

SONJA KUCEY, waitress: Yes, I do think that would be a good idea. The only time war workers have usually is Saturday afternoon and if they can't do their banking and oher business transactions then, they have to take time off from their work for that purpose. Besides, bank and office workers would probably appreciate having every other week-end to themselves. But the waitresses—they don't get a break either way.

DAN NORTON, clerk: It sounds like a good proposal but by the time it would begin to work and people would get used to having places closed on alternate Saturdays, I am hoping that we can all have a five-day, 40-hour week.

• • •

G. L. R., war worker: I don't know if that would actually be the solution. I do know that I am pretty lucky because my wife works downtown and she can take care of those things for the both of us.

Lenten Series Five Meetings Starts Sunday

Archbishop J. H. MacDonald, Roman Catholic Archbishop of Edmonton, will open the first of Lenten series of five meetings arranged to discuss post-war reconstruction at St. Mary's Separate School auditorium at 2:30 p.m. Sunday.

He will speak on "The Authority of the Church to Deal with the Social Question." The chairman will be J. J. Frawley, K.C.

This series of meetings is a sequel to the Catholic laymen's forum introduced some months ago at the Knights of Columbus chambers of the local Edmonton Council, and is open to both sexes, young and old, Catholic or non-Catholic.

The program will open with the singing of "O Canada," followed by a brief introduction of the speaker, who will then speak for 30 minutes on the scheduled subject. A 30 minute general discussion fill follow, to be succeeded by a random quiz by an experienced quizmaster with cash prize awards.

The program will conclude with a prayer for peace and the singing of "God Save the King."

Scheduled speakers for succeeding Sundays are H. D. Carrigan on "The Existence of a Social Question" Thomas V. Kelly, attorney with the office of the U.S. Division Engineers on "The Answer of Capitalism"; W. J. Monaghan, C.L.U., on "The Answer of Communism"; the Rev. R. B. Woodhouse on "The Answer of the Church."

Arrangements for the Lenten series were completed by John J. Leahy, general chairman, and the Rev. Emile Briere of St. Joseph's Seminary.

Urges Fair Chance For Blind Veterans

H. E. Willson, executive officer of the Northern Alberta branch, Canadian National Institute for the Blind, urged at the regular Thursday luncheon meeting of the Lions' club to be prepared to accept blind servicemen when they return on the basis of their ability to produce as much as a sighted person, and not to subject them to sympathy.

In an address on "Why Not Understand — Blindness," Mr. Willson pointed out that the servicemen will require a great deal of understanding.

He stressed the need for employers accepting these men and women without sight, because even if they receive a high pension for war service, "they will not be able to lead a complete life unless they are occupied."

Blind persons under 40 years of age, he said, can do many tasks as well and in a great many cases better than persons with their sight doing the same job.

Mr. Willson said that the Canadian National Institute has entered into an agreement with the federal government, for the future care of blind veterans. Under this agreement, veterans would be rehabilitated either at an Institute home in Toronto or in their own homes by local institute personnel. Training would be given them in braille, typing and other handicrafts and vocational training and guidance after their capabilities are decided.

Insurance Men Take Exception To Govt. Claim

Claim by the Alberta government that the operation of the provincial government insurance branch was responsible for rate reductions for insurance, on Friday was termed "ridiculous" by Lyal R. Williams, president, Edmonton Insurance Agents' Association.

He was answering a statement made by Hon. A. J. Hooke, provincial secretary, that $1,883,462 had been saved Albertans in insurance since the Social Credit government took office. This statement was termed by Mr. Williams as "erroneous and highly misleading."

"For the Alberta government to claim any credit for rate reductions is ridiculous, and to assert that the recently established insurance office is responsible for the many rate reductions that have been made effective in all the western provinces simultaneously is not in accord with the true facts and such statements should be challenged and refuted," Mr. Williams stated.

"The many fire insurance rate reductions enjoyed by the western Canadian insuring public that have been released during the past 10 years are not due to any actions of the Alberta government, or of its insurance department. They would have been received by the public even if the Alberta government insurance office never existed.

"Fire insurance rates have at all times been based upon the loss experience of the insuring companies, and the necessary costs of the operation of such companies.

STEADY REDUCTION

"There has been a continuous reduction in fire rates throughout Canada for many years. Since 1900 the average annual rate of premiums for the companies has been reduced from $1.60 to less than 60 cents today. The reduction of rates has been more pronounced since 1932 because in that year the abnormally high losses of proceeding years declined materially, and throughout Canada there has been a cycle of low losses until 1940 when they began to rise and are still on the upward trend.

"During the same time in Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba the loss experienced was more favorable than in the rest of Canada and in consequence fire insurance rates in Western Canada have been reduced to a far greater extent than warranted in the other provinces.

MANY FACTORS

"Many factors have contributed to the improved fire record of the last decade amongst them being improved fire fighting technique by municipal fire departments and the continuous improvement of fire fighting apparatus and protection facilities.

"The continuous activities of the Associated Stock Insurance Companies in fire prevention matters and other inspection organizations are other factors in the rate reductions.

"The suppression by provincial departments and through the insurance companies fire loss investigation bureau of incindiarism, annual fire prevention campaigns, and the installation of automatic sprinkler systems in many large industrial and highly valued mercantile properties are factors also."

No Scrap Steel Used in Bridge

Steel used in the construction of the large suspension bridge across the Peace River, near Fort St. John, is not scrap steel salvaged from the wrecked bridge at Tacoma, Wash. The steel used in the Peace Bridge is brand new.

Neither has the Peace River bridge developed a sag or any other structural defect since it was put in operation last August.

Brig.-Gen. L. D. Worsham, commanding general of the Northwest Service Command, made these observations Thursday during a press conference.

"I wish to spike these rumors about Peace River bridge. It is one of the finest structures on the continent," said the general.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

Wife Has Power To Make or Break a Man

No Husband Ever Gets Anywhere If His Wife Is Spender Instead of Saver in His Home; His Success Depends Upon Her

A young woman who is about to be married asks: "What can a wife do to, and for, her husband?" The answer is: A-plenty. When a man marries he practically puts his fate into his bride's hands, and unless he is a sort of human Gibraltar he ends up by being what she made him.

Tradition and the law make the husband the head of the house, and probably every optimistic bridegroom thinks that it is going to be no trick to change Angel Face a little nearer to his heart's desire. He never suspects but that she will just automatically adopt all of his ways, habits and opinions, yet, ninety-nine times out of a hundred, it is Angel Face who rules the roost and makes him over according to her taste.

WIFE INFLUENCES MAN

Why wives should have so much more influence over their husbands than their husbands have over them is one of the mysteries of the marriage relationship that nobody can explain. It just is. And we tacitly recognize this phenomenon when we say, as we so often do, that a man's wife has made him, or ruined him, but we never speak of a husband having changed his wife by even so much as a hair of her head.

A familiar example of this is to be found in the fact that the average married man has no friends outside his business or professional ones. Everyone he knows and goes with are his wife's friends. For the first thing a bride does is to give her husband's old cronies such a slice of cold shoulder when he brings them home to dinner with him that they never come back for a second helping.

The husband's family suffers the same fate. The wife's kin camp in the guest room, but the husband has to ask his wife's permission to have any of his people come for just a short visit. Many a jealous wife even succeeds in so completely alienating a man from his mother who bore him that he never goes to see her, or writes to her, or dares to send her a little cheque; but a wife clings to her family and helps them, no matter what her husband thinks about it.

No man, except he is a genius, can achieve his ambitions unless his wife fights shoulder to shoulder with him. She can balk him in a thousand ways. All of us have known talented young men, who had already gotten a good start climbing the ladder of success and from whom we looked for great things, who just slumped into nothingness after they married. And we wondered why.

WOMEN KILL GENIUS

The explanation is that they had married women who put out the fire of genius in their souls. I think now of a brilliant young man I knew who would have risen to the top of his profession if his wife had not wrecked him by her social ambitions.

Most of the big fortunes have been built on the pennies that the wives pinched. When a poor boy and girl married and started life together. They lived in a shabby room. She wore hand-me-downs. She walked blocks to save a few cent on the groceries. She sat up nights to wash his shirts. She hopped the bus and that's why they can ride in chaises now. But no poor man ever gets anywhere who has a wife who is a spender instead of a saver, for nothing is truer than the old saying that a woman can throw more out of the back door with a teaspoon than the man can put in it with a shovel.

Oh, yes, a wife can do a-plenty to a man, and for a man. She can keep his nose to the grindstone by trying to keep up with the Jonses. She can nag him until she breaks his spirit. She can belittle him until she kills his belief in himself. She can drive him to drink, or to the Other Woman.

Or she can buck him up by her admiration and belief in him so that he can accomplish the impossible. She can make friends for him. And she can make him a peaceful, comfortable and happy home that will enable him to make the best of such talents as God has given him.

What are you doing, Madam?

SPRING 1944!

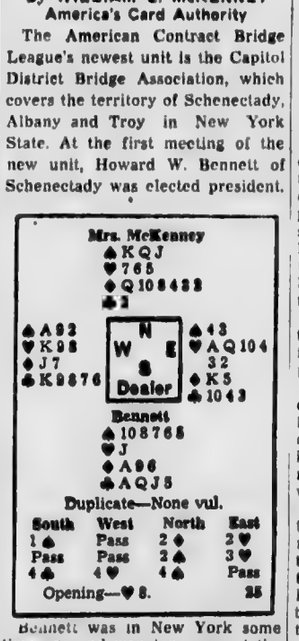

Peplum pockets, half-belt and shawl collar distinguish the 1944 version of the officer's coat in gold-colored Forstmann spring fleece shown at the left. The nasturtium red mandarin coat of Hockanum wool duvetyne trimmed with heavy black cable cord, at the right, is one of the short coats for spring that is long on popularity.

McKenney On Bridge

By WILLIAM E. McKENNEY
America's Card Authority

The American Contract Bridge League's newest unit is the Capitol District Bridge Association, which covers the territory of Schenectady, Albany and Troy in New York State. At the first meeting of the new unit, Howard W. Bennett of Schenectady was elected president.

Bennett was in New York some time ago and won top score at the Mayfair Bridge Club with Mrs. McKenney. Here is one of the interesting hands from that session. The play, whereby Bennett brought home his difficult contract, was based on an even break in the diamond suit.

East won the opening lead with the ace of hearts and shifted to a club. South went up with the ace and led a trump, which West permitted dummy to win. A low diamond was led from dummy and West won with the jack. He returned a diamond, hoping his partner might ruff; but when East dropped his king, Bennett won and led another trump. West won and returned a heart, which Bennett ruffed, then drew the last trump and discarded his losers on the established diamonds.

Debunker

Popular notions of poets are that they "look like poets"; and of artists, that they look "artistic." But this is all nonsense. Poets and artists do not look any different from politicians, doctors, school teachers or even jail birds. Actually, as Gilbert K. Chesterton once pointed out, most poets do not have any trace of anything poetic in their appearance. Instead of curly locks hanging down to their shoulders, many are bald as a goose egg.

Your Baby And Mine

Whenever a mother begins the arduous business of training her baby for cleanly habits she has two goal posts in view. One, she wants the child to be dry and clean; two, she wants him to tell her when he needs attention.

One aim at a time should be enough: to help the child to learn the personal and social advantages of being dry and clean. To accomplish that the child must enjoy such advantages, and as his own behavior is too unpredictable the mother must shoulder the responsibility until he has come to know them.

"Telling" is a second stage of this training, and comes about after the first has been completed. When the parent takes the child often enough—but not too often—so he can be dry or clean, eventually he learns to wait for this attention. When he can be counted upon to wait, then it is time enough to suggest that he need not go until he has to if he will tell mother when that is.

Mrs. A. J. A. has run into one of the usual results because she has made too much of a point of the telling. In order to please the mother and show their willingness to be co-operative her 18-months-old twins are now demanding to go to the toilet every 15 minutes in the day. This completely ruins her chances to get any housework done or give them all the other attentions they need. She is forever running them to the toilet.

One of the other aims of toilet training is to help the child to achieve control of the sphincter muscles. No such control is possible so long as one is encouraging such frequent visits to the toilet.

Give attention once each hour. If accidents happen meanwhile be "nonchalant." Remind them, "Oh, you are to wait until I take you to the toilet, don't you remember?" In time they will learn to wait. When this has become a habit, then lengthen the time to one and one-half hour. No one wants to solidify poor habits of control (day or night) merely to achieve dryness. Yet, that is exactly what happens when a conscientious mother feels she must respect a child's every request, just because she has made such a point of his telling her.

Our leaflet on, "Renewing Good Toilet Habits," is intended for the parent whose children were trained and are now incontinent. You may have it by sending your request for it to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper, and enclosing a 4-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request.

Mother: "Tell me why you want to change your plans and go to Mary's house."

Daughter: "It's her birthday."

Mother: "That's fine. Of course you may go."

Mother: "You needn't ask me to go over to Mary's because I'm not going to let you. . . . You said you were going to play here. . . Well, as long as it's her birthday. I'll let you go."

Wait and see what a situation calls for before announcing your decision.

MY DAY

WASHINGTON.—Mrs. Henry H. Arnold brought Colonel Howard A. Rusk to lunch on Friday. Colonel Rusk is under General Grant in charge of the rehabilitation work in the Air Force hospitals. They wanted me to know what they are doing in these hospitals, both to bring these men back into the service and to prepare them, if need be, for a return to civilian life, so that I could take the message to wounded boys overseas.

It is a thrilling program, and one wishes that it might be carried on in every overseas area so that from the beginning, every wounded boy would know that no matter what his handicap, he would be helped to the greatest possible usefulness. He would see that practically everyone can overcome his disabilities and find his place in the community.

I thought of this philosophy as I sat waiting to go on a local broadcast at Walter Reed hospital in the late afternoon on Friday. The treasury department was awarding a certificate to a patient who had sold the most war bonds. A commercial firm donated its time on the air for this program which has been carried on every afternoon at Walter Reed hospital. The boys went on the air and told what had happened to them in the service of their country, and then from their beds they answered the telephone and took orders for bonds.

The first prize was a $500 bond, and it was won by Corporal Fred Dixon of Macon, Ga. He has lost both legs, but as we stood chatting, he told me that he used to be an electrician, and he said he was going to take advantage of every bit of training that the government could give him so he would have a better job in the future. That is the spirit which will win the war. Private Charles Goodman and Private Jack Indictor, who won the second and third prizes, sold many bonds also, but each of them congratculated the winner of the top prize. You could see that they were genuinely glad that the boy who had the biggest fight before him had come out on top.

We had two boys from the Naval hospital at dinner Friday night, besides various other friends, and then we saw the movie which tells the story of Madame Curie's life. It is a wonderful picture, and I hope it will be shown to every boy who has a fight to make, either in the hospital or in the field.

I have a photograph of Madame Curie which she gave Mrs. William Brown Meloney, and which Mrs. Meloney's son sent to me after his mother's death. It hangs in my little New York City apartment, where I can see it as I sit at my desk. The more I look at Madame Curie's face, the more I seem to learn about character and will and courage. She had all these to an unusual degree.

McCoy Health Service

Acne is the medical name of an inflammatory skin disorder usually called "pimples". It produces the distressing crops of red pimples topped with pus which so often causes the boy or girl in the 'teen age to feel embarrassment.

Such blemishes commonly appear on the face, but may also be present across the upper back. After the blemishes themselves clear up, unsightly pits or scars may remain. Acne may be present over a period of months or years and is most likely to be found among those having oily skins. Oiliness of the hair is also commonly found. Incorrect cleansing of the excess oil from the skin plays a part in helping to cause further pimples to appear.

The cause of acne are both internal and external, that is, they come from both the inside and the outside. Of the two, the internal causes are the more important. Any of the following causes may operate to produce the disorder: Continued constipation; over-eating on sweets; the use of rich food to excess; lack of sunlight; and too little exercise.

Some of the outside factors which aid in prolonging the disorder are the excessive oil thrown out on the skin surface; and also the tendency to squeeze the pimples, which serves to induce further irritation. Lack of proper cleansing of the skin and mis-guided treatment, may also intensify the tendency to acne.

There is considerable evidence to believe that in a patient who has followed wrong habits of living. Nature attempts to bring about a general cleansing of the body during the 'teen age, at a time when important glandular readjustments are taking place, and that acne may be a part of this cleansing process. However, the young person who has followed correct habits of living is able to go through this stage of development without crops of embarrassing pimples. I believe that when they appear, they are a sign that the patient should change his wrong habits of living to better ones.

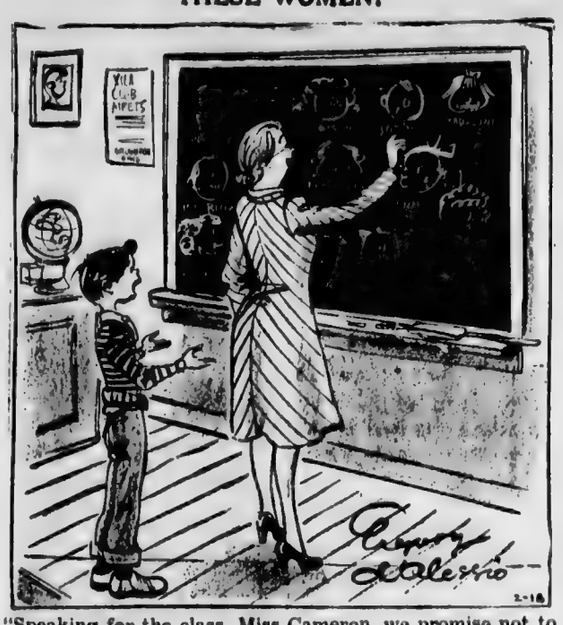

The three changes which will do the most good are: First, the adoption of those measures which bring about a thorough cleansing of the intestinal tract; second the use of the fast followed by a simple, wholesome diet; and third, the correct method of washing the affected areas, supplemented by local treatment when necessary.

The treatment of acne must be both local and constitutional and a number of measures must be used simultaneously to bring about the most rapid results.

Constipation is usually present and must be corrected. The patient may do a great deal to encourage better functioning of the intestine by using a larger amount of the green leafy vegetables which provide bulk, and through taking vigorous physical culture exercises. Good intestinal hygiene, when coupled with correct diet and proper skin cleansing, will often be all that is needed to banish acne.

All questions regarding health and diet will be answered. Large stamped, self addressed envelope must be enclosed. Write on one side of paper only. Letters must not exceed 150 words. Address McCoy Health Service, The McCoy Building, 1151 West 6th Street, Los Angeles, Calif.

A worn umbrella still has its use, during these days of conservation. The worn covering should be stripped off and the form used as a rack, suspended from the cellar ceiling. WEAVING PROJECTS PLANNED FOR BLIND

REGINA.— (CP) — Weaving projects have been proposed for the blind in Western Canada to meet a steady demand for handwoven articles and to provide another source of income for persons handicapped by loss or impairment of sight.

The matter was brought to the attention of a recent meeting of the board of directors of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind in Southern Saskatchewan by Capt. M. C. Robinson of Vancouver, national director of the institute for Western Canada.

A blind organization in Seattle, Wash., has developed weaving to a high degree of efficiency in the Northwestern states and organizations throughout various parts of the United States have created a good market for blind handicraft.

Greeks in Canada eat well despite rationing and shortages. They combine several ingredients in one dish, use every bit of meat, much cereal in their main dishes and have skillful ways of treating low-point meats such as variety cuts and forequarters and neck of lamb.

LAMB STEW WITH ARTICHOKES
(Serves 10)

Two pounds shoulder of lamb, cubed, 2 small onions, quartered, 3 tablespoons butter or fortified margarine, 1 tablespoon flour, 10 artichokes, lemon juice, ½ cup chopped onion, fresh anise or mint, 2 egg yolks, salt and pepper.

Place the meat, quartered onions and butter, in a saucepan, and brown. Add the flour and stir until blended, then add water to cover and simmer slowly. Clean the artichokes, and if large ones are used, cut in halves. Sprinkle well with lemon juice and mix with the chopped onions and anise or mint. When the meat has cooked about 15 minutes, add the artichoke mixture. Cut a sheet of heavy paper to fit the top of the saucepan and place over the top of the pan to prevent artichokes from discoloring, then place regular cover on top. Cook until meat is tender. Serve in following manner: arrange meat in centre of platter, surround with artichokes, and cover with a sauce made as follows: beat egg yolks until light, then add a little salt and lemon juice.

STUFFED VINE LEAVES

Make a stuffing of cooked cereal, a little meat (optional), chopped onion, parsley and dill; fold in vine leaves which have been scalded until soft enough to roll. Boil in pot with oil and a little water and weigh down with a heavy plate. Cook about 1½ hours. Serve cold, with lemon.

Miss M. Bulmer Married Here

Miss Mildred Maxine Bulmer of Cavell, Sask., became the bride of Ivor Arthur Griffiths of Ardrossan, Alta., at a quiet wedding held on Sunday at Christ Church, Edmonton. The Rev. E. S. Ottley officiated.

The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bulmer of Cavell, and Mr. Griffiths is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur D. Griffiths of Ardrossan.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a two-piece dress of beige, with small brown hat and shoes to match. Pinned to her shoulder was a corsage of red roses, and her only piece of jewelry was a gold locket, gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Marjorie Bulmer of Senlac, Sask., was her sister's only attendant. She wore a two-piece dress of luggage tan, complemented by brown accessories to match, and a corsage of pink carnations.

Best man was a brother-in-law of the bridegroom, LAC. Thomas H. Wall, R.C.A.F., of Calgary.

Mrs. Bulmer, mother of the bride, chose a two-peice dress of black, trimmed with leaf green. Her corsage was made up of red roses. Mrs. Griffiths, mother of the bridegroom, chose a black dress with yoke of powder blue, and corsage of cerise roses.

After the wedding ceremony, a dinner was served at the Corona hotel, for members of the immediate families. The bride's table, centred by a three-tiered cake and silver vases, was arranged with a bouquet of daffodils.

Mr. and Mrs. Griffiths are spending a short honeymoon in Calgary and Banff.

Other out-of-town guests included: Miss Frances Bulmer, of Wadena, Sask., and G. Bulmer, of Cavell.

Several letters were read from boys overseas and in Canada, thanking the assembly for parcels which had been sent to them at Christmas.

Many Women Active In Building Trade

LONDON. — (CP) — England's homes of the future may be the houses that Jill—not Jack—built. Many women are now working as painters, decorators, plasterers and electricians, and the prediction made by labor organizations is that rather than abandon their trades when the war is over, the number of women in the building trade will increase. Contractors have stated that in many fields of building women show more skill in interior decoration, in electricity and in home planning than many of their fellow-workmen.

Miss D. MacDonald Married At Marine Base Chapel, Cal.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Feb. 25.—A twin ring wedding ceremony was held at the Marine Base chapel at Camp Elliott, here, on Feb. 12, when Miss Daphne MacDonald, younger daughter of Capt. and Mrs. Richard MacDonald of Edmonton, became the bride of Sgt. B. A. Sweet, Jr., U.S. Marine Corps, son of Mayor and Mrs. B. A. Sweet of Twin Falls, Idaho. The Protestant chaplain officiated.

The bride, given in marriage by Sgt. J. Fredericks, a friend of the bridegroom, was frocked in a vogue model needlepoint weave, two-piece suit of dream blue. It was trimmed with self colored beads. Her hat matched the ensemble, and other accessories were white. Gardenias en corsage were pinned to her shuolder, and she carried a prayer book trimmed with white satin streamers, a single gardenia marking the opening.

Miss Gloria Tierney was bridesmaid wearing a rose ensemble with black accessories. Best man was Sgt. A. Banham.

The organist was a lieutenant in the Women's Division of the U.S. Marines Corps. Prior to the ceremony she played Schubert's Serenade and Gounod's Ave Maria.

Immediately after the service, an informal reception was held at the Marine Room, La Jolla, when fellow sergeants of the bridegroom were hosts. Candle-lit tables were arranged around the balcony.

A more formal reception was held later at the large home of K. M. Wilson of La Jolla. The bride's table was centred with a three-tiered wedding cake which was sent from Edmonton. Many telegrams of congratulations, and letters wishing the couple happiness, were received.

They will make their home in La Jolla, San Diego, temporarily, and are guests at the La Cabrillo hotel.

The bridegroom is a chemical warfare instructor, and a graduate of Twin Falls high school and Long Beach Junior College.

ILLUSION

The skirt and bodice of this print dress look as though they were accordion pleated, but actually the effect is achieved in the print by the scroll motif being accented by deeper toned lines.

Asks Women Police For South Africa

CAPE TOWN.—(CP)—The hope that the National Council of Women would continue to press for the establishment of a civilian women's police corps was expressed by Captain (Mrs.) J. D. Buchanan of the Women's Military Police in Cape Town. Up to the outbreak of war, South Africa, she said, was almost the only country without women police, and it would mean a new career for women. Mrs. Buchanan added that the Union had 50 women military police who had to deal with offenders among some 20,000 women but there was little serious crime in the army.

Authors Hold Regular Meet

The regular monthly meeting of the Edmonton branch, Canadian Authors' Association was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Hayward on Monday evening.

A letter from the Ryerson Press was read which announced their annual fiction award, and a letter from the United States Consul General in Winnipeg announced a $1,000 prize for a common history of Canada and the United States, suitable for use as a text book.

Frank Gilbert Roe gave a short talk on his recent visit to eastern Canada. While in Ottawa he addressed the Ottawa branch on "Fifty Years of Progress in Alberta."

Original manuscripts of poems and short stories by branch members were distributed and read, and these were of such a high order that some discussion took place regarding the preparation of a scrap book containing these, and others may be submitted later. The matter was tabled for future consideration.

Four particularly fine biographical sketches by Mrs. A. I. Scouten, dealt with the lives of four noted Canadian writers who had died since the beginning of the year, Dr. John Welsey Dafoe, Dr. Frederick G. Scott, Dr. George W. Kerby and Frederick Niven.

U.K. Will Take All Available Canada Cheese

OTTAWA, Feb. 25.—(CP)—Agriculture Minister Gardiner announced Thursday in Commons that a contract is being negotiated under which Britain will take all the cheese Canada can provide during the next two years.

Mr. Gardiner outlined government policies for dairy products during the year starting next May 1, and announced subsidies to be paid for fluid milk, cheese, butter and concentrated whole milk.

The new subsidy levels will be on a lower plane for the first five months of the year starting May 1 than they were during the last seven months of the preceding year, the minister said, but in the last seven months of 1944-45 they will be on the same level as in the corresponding months of 1943-44.

TAKE OTHER SURPLUSES

Any surpluses of butter or canned milk which may result from the dairy policies can be marketed in Britain, he said.

Authority is being taken through the food board to direct plants to depend on the same sources for milk supply as in a previous year, the minister announced.

The 1944-45 fluid milk subsidies from May 1 to Sept. 30 will be 35 cents for 100 pounds except in some areas where it will remain at 25 cents, the price paid in the same months last year. Other subsidies for the May 1.—Sept. 30 period, with amounts paid in the same months in 1943-44 in brackets, follow:

Milk for cheese, 20 cents per 100 pounds (nil); butter, 10 cents a pound butterfat (eight cents a pound butterfat paid from May 1 to Dec. 31); concentrated whole milk, 15 cents a 100 pounds (nil).

OCTOBER-APRIL SUBSIDIES

From Oct. 1 to April 30, 1945, the subsidies will be as follows (1943-44 payments for the same seven months in brackets):

Fluid milk, 55 cents per 100 pounds (55 cents, except some districts where it is 25 cents); milk for cheese, 20 cents per 100 pounds (30 cents); butter, 10 cents a pound butterfat (10 cents, payable from Jan. 1 to April 30); concentrated whole milk, 30 cents per 100 pounds (30 cents).

"We think these subsidies, along with the floor under prices already provided through our agreements and otherwise for dairy products, should result, if weather is favorable, in a record production in dairy products in 1944," the minister said.

New Gas Ration Coupon Issue

Above are shown the new gasoline ration coupons and windshield stickers for the 1944-45 gas rationing year which starts April 1. The plan will be basically the same as the system now in effect. Only major change is that owners must write in ink on each gasoline coupon the provincial license number of their vehicle. Service station attendants will refuse coupons which do not bear the correct license number.

Chicago Prices Ease Near Close

CHICAGO, Feb. 25—(AP)—Grains eased toward the close today as local traders, who had bought early in the session, turned to the selling side. Wheat showed more strength than other grains and at one time was ahead for gains ranging to a cent in the May contract on buying attributed to mills. The late slump erased the advance.

Grain men noted a report of Modern Miller, a trade publication, which stated abandoned wheat acreage will be less than the 22 per cent. forecast by the department of agriculture on Dec. 1. "Experts claim that the outlook is for a crop well above that suggested about three months ago," the publication stated.

At the close wheat was ¼ lower to ⅛ higher, oats were unchanged to ¼ lower, rye was down ¼-⅜, and September barley was ⅜ lower. There was no trading in May and July barley.

Wheat: May 170⅝, July 1.67, Sept. 1.65¼, Dec. 1.65½.

Oats: May 79⅝, July 75⅞-76, Sept. 72¾, Dec. 73.

Rye: May 1.26⅛, July 1.25-1.25⅛, Sept. 1.23⅜-½. Dec. 1.24.

Barley: May 1.31⅝, July 1.18⅛, Sept. 1.15⅛.

Wheat, none; corn, sample grade mixed, 96¼; barley, malting, 1.25-1.44½ normal.

Wheat and Flour Exports Reported

WINNIPEG, Feb. 25—(CP)—Wheat and flour export business was reported today on the Winnipeg grain exchange. United Kingdom interests purchased 250,000 bushels of high grade wheat while flour sales to the United Kingdom and the British West Indies were placed at 200,000 bushels.

Domestic grain dealings included the shipment of odd cars of oats direct from Western Canada points to eastern feeders on permits issued by the feeds administrator.

Rye futures moved irregularly in trading which saw commission houses, locals and American interests on both sides of the market. Closing prices were ⅛ to ½ higher with May at $1.25⅞, July 1.24¼ and October $1.23.

Mail For the Boys and Girls Overseas

In eight recent trips a giant 4-engined Lancaster in the Dominion Government's trans-Atlantic Service operated by Trans-Canada Air Lines carried for Canada's active forces overseas over 50,000 pounds of mail—approximately two million letters—between Montreal and Great Britain.

The Canadian Postal Corps estimates that the average Canadian soldier writes three letters in seven days and receives almost four, which gives some indication of the vast number of letters that must be despatched by all forms of transportation each week.

All personnel handling mail consider letters as tremendously valuable factors in the war effort and their safety and forwardance are treated with just as much care and importance as are shipments of planes, tanks, guns and shells. Letters are regarded as an important influence in maintaining the morale of the boys and girls in the armed forces overseas. Transporting mail is only one of the military missions for which the Lancasters in the Dominion Government service are used. They also carry passengers on important war business, as well as tons of critically needed material to our fighting forces.

Upper photo shows the big mail load for one of the flights being placed in the passenger cabin of a Lancaster by security police of the Royal Air Force Transport Command. The mail bags alongside the aircraft were placed in the nose, as well as in the cargo compartment located in that part of the plane formerly used as the bomb bay. The insert photo shows Miss Lena Desjardins, a T.C.A. employee, doing her share to beat Hitler by assisting in loading the mail carried by the big Lancasters to the Canadian servicemen and women overseas.

Glamour Goddess

Dolores Moran, Warner Bros. featured player, has been singled out by the Southern California Sculpture Society, as the subject for a statuette to be called "Glamour Goddess". It is no military secret that Miss Moran's charms are a great favorite in the "pin-up" dept., but this recognition from artistic circles is the first of its kind.

Retreating Germans Leave Wholesale Destruction in Their Wake

Storming mountain positions in Italy is a tough proposition. Here British troops rest on the slopes of Mt. Camimo where they beat back the Germans. The men are tired, grimy, tough.

British infantrymen picking their way through the ruined Castel di Sangro had never before met such wholesale destruction. The Nazis had left only 12 houses standing. To deny Allied troops cover and to "get even" with the Italians were the motives.

China Gets Anti-Tank Gun From Canadians

Bonds of friendship uniting Canada and China were tightened Monday afternoon at the Longue Pointe Ordnance Depot, Montreal, when this 6-Pounder Anti-Tank gun, gift of the employees of the Inspection Board, United Kingdom and Canada, was presented to Hon. Dr. Liu Shih Shun, Chinese Minister to Canada, by Brigadier G. B. Howard, Ottawa, Controller-General of the Board. Shown here, left to right, are Lt.-Col. T. S. Ho, Chinese Ordnance expert; Dr. Yui Ming, Director of Chinese Ministry of Information in Canada; Maj. Gen. Chiang of the Chinese Army; Col. L. Canadians Repulse Attack—Take Prisoners

Writing glorious chapters into the history of the war, Canadian troops in Italy have met the flower of the German Army and sent enemy divisions reeling back after grim battles. These two pictures, just in from Italy show two phases of the fight. Left—The war is over for these German soldiers captured by Canadians on the Italian front, and Cpl. W. R. Hardy, of Winnipeg, is telling their sergeant-major in fluent German how they should behave on parade. Right—The Canadian soldier shown crouched at the corner of the building, had the road covered during a German counter-attack repulsed by Canadians near San Leonardo.

"Troublesome" Dance

Agnes De Mille, right, a niece of Cecil B. De Mille, has a new dance form, which she hopes to popularize as a substitute for musical comedy routines. She is pictured rehearsing it, a modified ballet, with Shirley Eckl, at Chicago's Civic Opera House. Theme of as yet unnamed ballet: "Men and women and the trouble they get into."

India in the News

First Indian in the R.A.F. to be decorated with the D.F.C. is Flying Officer S. E. Sukthanker, who has made 45 pathfinder flights. He received the decoration from the Queen, the King being ill with the flu.

The Latest Mustang Fighter

This is the new improved version of the P-51 Mustang, escort fighter. This late model has greater speed (400 miles per hour, plus), longer range, greater weight, and a much higher service ceiling of well over 30,000 feet. The plane can also be used as a fighter-bomber capable of carrying a 1,000-pound load.

14 Bills Given Second Reading In Legislature

Preparing for committee sessions Friday morning and afternoon, 14 bills were given second reading in the Legislature Thursday. Six of nine private bills before the House were given their second readings, including three legislating charter amendments for the cities of Edmonton, Calgary and Wetaskiwin.

During discussion on the Thursday readings, Premier Ernest Manning told the House it was intended to take up new legislation in the committee stage Friday.

MUCH DISCUSSION

Considerable discussion arose when second reading was given to a bill sponsored by Hon. Solon E. Low, provincial treasurer and minister of education, which will stop the sale of lands to Hutterites for the duration of the war.

Mr. Low told the House that the new bill was to replace the Land Sales Prohibition Act and amendments, (passed at the 1942 session and amended at the 1943 session), which was disallowed last year by the Dominion government.

The senior government's objection to the original act, said Mr. Low, was because it affected enemy aliens as well as Hutterites. The new legislation refers to Hutterites only.

J. J. Bowlen, Liberal M.L.A. for Calgary, asked the minister, "Why not include the Doukhobors, who are not peaceful, like the Hutterites?"

The minister replied that in Alberta, the Doukhobors did not constitutee a problem. The Hutterites, on the other hand, "swarmed" when their colonies became too large, and took up more desirable land in forming a new colony.

SOME LANDS SOLD

Mr. Low said that due to lack of help available to farmers, because of the war, some farmers had sold their land to Hutterites, when cash was offered to them. This was resulting in the Hutterites obtaining some of the best land available in the south country.

The government had offered the Hutterites land in other parts of the province, but they had refused to take it, the House was told. They were in no way suffering because of a need of land, and at present had plenty to take care of.

The next speaker, James C. Mahaffy, K.C., Independent M.L.A. for Calgary, declared Mr. Low had not replied to Mr. Bowlen's question, as to why the legislation proposed did not include the Doukhobors and Mennonites as well as Hutterites.

Strong objection was taken by R. S. Lee, Social Credit M.L.A. for Taber, to Mr. Mahaffy's inclusion of the Mennonites with the Doukhobors and Hutterites. The former, he said were good citizens while the latter were not.

After this discussion, the bill was given second reading.

Two Men Remain On Battered Ship

HALIFAX, Feb. 25.—(CP)—Treacherous Thrum Cap reef wrecked the pilot vessel Camperdown yesterday, but 12 of the 14 men aboard her fought their way to land across breaking seas as waves battered the 108-ton craft on the jagged ledge off McNab's Island, in Halifax harbor.

Two of the little motor vessel's complement—her joint skippers—still stood by the ship last night as she rested on her beam ends with great holes punched in her hull, tossed high on the reef.

With one of their boats snatched away by the seas, the remaining men aboard the Camperdown made their way to shore in their other small boat and in a dory dragged over three miles of snow by army men stationed at McNab's Island. None were seriously hurt.

Commission Urged To Study Manitoba School Relations

WINNIPEG, Feb. 25.—(CP)—A government-appointed tax commission to investigate provincial-municipal responsibility for school district relations and to determine methods of making education a provincial charge was proposed yesterday by the Army and Navy Veterans in Canada in a brief submitted to a special committee of the legislature. The brief urged abolition of the special district levy and substitution of a provincial levy calculated to raise some accepted percentage of the total cost. The remainder of the cost, the brief said, should be taken from other provincial revenue.

Blast Diverts Outlet to Reveal Steep Rock Lake Iron Ore Beds

To reach the rich iron ore beds at the bottom of Steep Rock Lake in northwestern Ontario, more than 121,000,000,000 gallons of water had to go "down the drain." So this could be done, 15 tons of dynamite were used to divert water from Marmion Lake, which fed Steep Rock. The first picture, left, shows Arthur Dyment and Frank Jones of the C. A. Pitt Construction Company, examining the wiring prior to the blast. Maurice F. Massiaen, the firm's mechanical superintendent, touched off the blast, right, sending heavy logs flying more than a mile and great chunks of rock high into the air. After the 608 cases of dynamite blew, the Marmion Lake outlet was running west instead of southeast.

Before the Magistrate

A 16-year-old Calgary youth, charged for the second time within a few months on seven counts of forgery, through which he obtained $182.50 in Edmonton, was given a seven-day remand by Magistrate A. I. Miller, K.C., in city police court Friday morning, during which time he will have a chance to think over the prospect of spending the rest of his life behind the bars.

The boy's father, who had come from Calgary to plead for his son, sobbed in the witness box as he asked that the boy not be sent to jail, but rather, that he be permitted to take him home to Calgary.

The story was told how the young prisoner, whose case was waived from the juvenile court, was committed to the care of the superintendent of child welfare in Edmonton, after earlier issuing cheques to the value of $966 at Calgary, with the U.F.A. suffering because it had cashed them. No restitution had been made.

The lad came to Edmonton to be under the care and influence of the child welfare department, and between Dec. 14 and 19, last, he cashed the cheques valued at $182.50.

According to a statement by the boy, life at home, while comfortable, had seen disagreement between himself and his father. Feeling that the latter owed him money, the accused issued the cheques in his father's name. The previous cheques, amounting to $966, were said to have been signed with the name of the man for whom the accused was working at the time.

"Of course I don't want the boy to go to jail," asserted the father. "The whole thing is nonsense."

"Nonsense to commit forgery?" asked Mr. Millar.

"I don't mean it that way. I mean it is too bad it happened," replied the father.

Mr. Millar indicated that an auto which figured in the case would not be needed by the accused, should he be sentenced to life imprisonment, and remanded the case until March 3.

William Kremin, found guilty of assaulting his wife, was fined $15 or 21 days with hard labor.

William Didow, charged with having in his possession a number of blank forms of registration, was sentenced to six months imprisonment.

Dean Weidner, charged with contributing to juvenile deliquency, was fined $150 or six months' imprisonment.

Agnes Laboucane, charged with third offence for illegal possession, pleaded guilty. She was sentenced to four months with hard labor. A further charge, of breaking five panes of glass in the police station, earned for her a further penalty of $5 and costs, plus $3 damages, or 10 days.

John Yaremchuk, 37 years old, of Beverly, terming himself a conscientious objector, was sentenced to serve three months and pay a fine of $50 and costs. If the fine is not paid, he will serve a further three months, at the end of which he was ordered to be taken to a civilian service camp.

Twenty persons were fined or ordered to serve terms of imprisonment, by Magistrate Harold L. Hawe, K.C., in R.C.M.P. traffic court, Thursday afternoon. They were Leonard Robertson, Tivon Tomycz, Frank Rowsko, H. Baker, Antoine Neagan, Earl C. Beecher, Donald K. Pinch, Paul Ferlyko, Harry Chikah, W. W. Mossop, D. R. C. Calkins and Nick Wlasichuk, all of Edmonton; C. Archambault, Spruce Grove; A. LaCasse, Vimy; Nick Smegelski, Carvel; Leonard Hesse, Vollmer; Robert Bourgeois, St. Albert; R. Garneau and W. Club Presidents Review Activities

Presidents of the city's service clubs gathered together at the Rotary club regular Thursday luncheon meeting at the Macdonald to introduce themselves and review the activities of their organizations. Reg. T. Rose, Rotary president, was chairman.

Among those introduced were: Max Dewar, Y's Men's club of Edmonton; Chas. O. Tanney, Cosmopolitan club; Stan Smith, Gyro club; C. A. Venn, Kinsmen's club; Gordon Smeltzer, representing Gordon Owen, Lions' club; Louis LaFleche, Optimist club, and A. M. MacDonald, Kiwanis club.

Tribute was paid to the late Jas. W. Mould, Rotary member, who died recently.

The highlight of the entertainment was the introduction of a new Rotary quartette consisting of Chas. Hillas, Gordon Butler, Fred Wells, and Harold Fazackerley, accompanied by Alex Kevan at the piano.

Trapping Catches 200 More Pigeons

The pigeon population of Edmonton has been "thinned out" by more than 200 through trapping operations conducted on the Market Square by officers of the Edmonton pound. In two catches Thursday 67 birds were trapped.

Continuing operations on Friday, it was expected that a further 50 to 60 would be taken, but the birds are becoming extremely cagey and are keeping out of the trap, feeding all over the square. Toward noon they were approaching the trap, and the operator was hopeful to make his first catch about 12:30 p.m.

Next week the trapping operations will be moved to the vicinity of some of Edmonton's feed mills, and it is expected that the "thinning out" process will be completed early next week.

Soudan Veteran To Be Speaker At Celebration

George K. Keeley, believed to be the oldest living veteran of the 1885 Soudan campaign, who recently celebrated his 79th birthday, will be a featured speaker at the Army and Navy Veterans association Paardeberg smoker to be held in the Victoria Armory Saturday night. The subject of his talk will be "The Dester Column at Abu Klena 1885."

Neighbors and friends of Mr. Keeley gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Hockely, 11038 84 avenue last week to pay tribute to this veteran soldier on the occasion of his birthday.

Mr. Keeley served with "The Queen's Own" Cameron Highlanders and took part in the historically famous battle of Abu Klea in January, 1885.

He was among those heroic soldiers who fought "in a hand to hand encounter against fearful odds," an engagement which has been described by Prime Minister Winston Churchill in his book "The River War" as the fiercest battle ever fought by British soldiers on the sands of Soudan.

In this battle, Mr. Churchill recalled how 1,800 British soldiers withstood an onslaught of more than 10,000 Arabs who were not only fanatical fighters, but well equipped with modern rifles.

One of the last of those brave men, Mr. Keeley can still recall the hardships of bad weather, scarcity of food and clothing, the parched lands of Egypt and the fierce Arabs which he and his departed comrades faced only three decades ago.

Mr. Keeley, who has been living alone since the death of his wife in 1934, is considered a "champion baker" and baked the three tier birthday cake enojed at the celebration, as well as preparing the other refreshments.

The Edmonton Ring, International Brotherhood of Magicians, was presented with its charter Thursday night at a banquet held at the Macdonald hotel. Capt. Harry Baker, United States Army, one of America's leading magicians, made the presentation to J. E. Sacker, president of the ring.

During the evening many of the local members staged exhibitions of their skill and dexterity in card games, pulling rabbits out of hats, cutting rops into small pieces and then producing them undamaged. They hauled out yards and yards of silk streamers from a flower bowl, and made flowers appear from behind a spectator's ear, as well as many other feats.

Among the local members of the ring taking part in the program were A. Blair Paterson, J. E. Sacker, Jack Peters, and John G. Gemmell.

Capt. Baker staged a 15 minute show that had the audience mystified and thoroughly entertained, and Sgt. Frank Herman, also of the United States Army, performed a series of splendid acts accompanied by amusing patter.

Member Protests "Political Moves"

Protesting over government employees participating in political activities, J. J. Bowlen, Liberal M.L.A. for Calgary, spoke on a point of order in the Legislature Thursday.

The Calgary member began his protest by reading a report from a Lethbridge newspaper, which told of a Social Credit meeting held in Cardston on Feb. 16, at which J. C. Landeryou, Lethbridge, was a speaker.

Mr. Landeryou, a former member of parliament for Calgary East, was quoted in the report as saying "bankers would rather feed pigs than children."

Mr. Bowlen stated he had been told Mr. Landeryou is now a provincial highway inspector, and that this was not the only complaint he had received regarding participation of civil servants in political activities. He mentioned that he had received several letters of protest on the subject.

The Calgary member said the government should put pressure on these "enthusiastic civil servants," and forbid them from taking part in politics, so they could get on with their work.

S. H. McCuaig, K.C., Elected President of Edmonton Family Welfare Bureau

S. H. McCuaig, K.C., was elected president of the Edmonton Family Welfare Bureau at the annual meeting of the group held in Corona hotel Thursday evening. The retiring president, J. G. Nickerson, was elected honorary treasurer and other officers re-elected for another term were: J. Percy Page, M.L.A., vice-president, and Mrs. H. E. Smith as honorary secretary. J. G. Nickerson acted as chairman.

With the addition of four new members the board of directors is as follows: Mrs. Cora T. Casselman, M.P. for Edmonton East, Mrs. Frank J. Conroy, Mrs. R. E. Browne, Mrs. George MacDonald, Mrs. R. E. Chapman, Dr. Mary Winspear, Rev. J. T. Stephens, Rt. Rev. W. F. Barfoot, Rev. Fr. R. B. Woodhouse, H. F. McKee, Dr. G. M. Little, H. E. Tanner and A. J. McCormack.

Mr. Jacobus, outlined the history of the International Red Cross from its origin to its present day activities. He pointed out that while the organization was founded in an attempt to relieve the suffering of wounded soldiers, and that was still its primary function, there were many similarities in the type of welfare work being done among families of servicemen, to that of the Family Welfare group.

He explained how the work in peacetime had expanded to relief of victims of disasters, such as earthquakes, floods and epidemics.

He gave a clear picture of the work being done among American servicemen by Red Cross hospital workers, recreational clubs, and information regarding prisoners of war.

The American Red Cross here also extends its services to American civilian construction workers in the area, he said.

Mr. Jacobus praised very highly the work of the Family Welfare Bureau in Edmonton, and said that he very often called on them for advice and assistance in dealing with welfare problems.

ANNUAL REPORT

Steady growth of the Family Welfare Bureau since its inauguration was outlined by Miss Kathleen M. Jackson, executive director, when she presented the second annual report on the work of the bureau. Highlights of Miss Jackson's report are as follows:

The first major step in the adventure of establishing modern social and community organization in Edmonton was the setting up of the Council of Social Agencies four years ago, followed by the successful development of the Community Chest. Out of a part-time activity of the council, there grew the feeling that there was a place for a separate family welfare organization and this was formally opened in January, 1942.

Since that time our work has grown steadily. Responsibilities which we were asked to assume in steadily increasing volume by the Dependents' Allowance Board and the Dependents' Board of Trustees have increased our work, she said.

"In 1942 we had 933 applications for assistance and in 1943 that number was increased to 1309 families, a growth of 376 over the previous year. Including in that figure the 273 families known to us, whose problems were still unsettled on Jan. 1, 1943, that means therefore that 1,582 families received some service during the year. Of that number 81 per cent were the dependents of men in the armed forces. Some of these families needed intensive care, others brief services, and a few applications were referred directly to other agencies better able to meet their needs."

2,606 VISITS MADE

Rendering these services required 2,606 visits to homes, schools, relatives, and other sources, 996 office interviews, 1,269 letters, and 3,747 telephone calls as well as 8,000 miles in the car.

A total of $1,113.79 and been expended in relief, of which $226.60 has been refunded. The relief expenditure includes assistance to the families of servicemen on account of delayed allowances, illness and other emergencies to discharged veterans of this war, and temporary crisis of one sort or another, to civilian families, it was reported.

"The results of hasty war marriages, and separations, illegiitmate pregnancies, child behavior difficulties, and juvenile delinquency, poor housing and non-residence, illness both physical and mental, make up our daily work," Miss Jackson said.

"Our aim is to assist each person who comes to us to find a personally satisfying, socially acceptable way of life.

MANY CONTRIBUTE

"A great deal of the efficiency of these services depends on the other resources in the community which we can mobilize to meet the need. The Victorian Order of Nurses, the Child Welfare clinics, outdoor clinic of the University hospital, TB. clinic and the newly-organized social service department of the Royal Alexandra hospital all played important parts in those families presenting health problems.

"Some 30 of our families received help for Christmas, either through the interest of volunteer groups, or through a donation from the Prince Edward of Kent I.O.D.E. chapter which assisted us in planning for a number of servicemen's families.

"We hope in the next year to expand our relationships with volunteers even further. The volunteers have much to teach us, and perhaps we can give them a feeling of participation in a community organization.

It is our belief that each person who is ill, unemployed, handicapped, unhappy in his or her personal relationships, at odds with the community, pre-delinquent or actively delinquent should have access to the most adequate social services that we can devise.

ASSET FOR FUTURE

"Each home we hold together until husband and father returns from overseas; each baffled mother who tells us her troubles; each physical defect that is remedied before permanent harm results; each home that is made more comfortable and secure by budgetting and friendly advice; each child that is directed to wholesome activities instead of being allowed to lapse into delinquency is an asset for the future of our country," Miss Jackson concluded.

S. H. McCuaig presented the annual financial statement which showed a credit balance of $765.46. Receipts of the organization during the year included $6,116, contributed by the Community Chest; $29 in donations and $2,929, which was the Dominion government's contribution to the Dependents' Advisory committee. Total receipts amounted to $9,300.60 and disbursements totalled $8,786.73.

Dr. Mary Winspear tendered a vote of thanks to Mr. Jacobus for his address and Mrs. Frank J. Conroy moved a vote of thanks to J. G. Nickerson for his work as president of the organization during the past year.
